At last Arlington Heights has as big a pull with the passenger department of the North Western railroad as Mount Prospect. For the past year, Mount Prospect was the first stop of a fast train leaving Chicago at 5 p.m., with the second stop being Barrington.

Since October 1, Arlington Heights is the first stop of a train leaving Chicago at 5:20 p. m., the second stop being Crystal Lake.

We never knew that Arlington Heights had so many high salaried men. A Chicago newspaper recently prepared an elaborate circular setting forth the home delivery advertising value of said publication in Arlington Heights and Des Plaines.

The comparative figures relate that only 13% of Des Plaines residents earn over $10,000, while 25% of Arlington Heights residents are in that category. Half of Arlington residents earn between $5,000 and $9,999 a year.

The average family income in Des Plaines is given as $5,800, while it is $7,300 in Arlington Heights.

Our rich guys need not get cocky about the size of their income, because there are nearly a thousand of their neighbors who are earning as much. One fourth of Arlington families are in a bracket of less than $5,000; while in Des Plaines 31% of its residents are just as poor.

Two Palatine township boys and one Arlington Heights boy, all between the ages of 16 and 19, had an example of the folly of mixing drinks with draving an automobile last Saturday night. Their car went into a ditch at Plum Grove and Kirchhoff rds.

They were mutual friends earlier in the evening; that friendship is stretched a bit until they decide who is to pay the cost of repairs—the driver who did not own the car, the owner who was a passenger, or the saloon keeper who sold them the liquor.

We commend the school "radiograms" that Noble J. Puffer, Cook county superintendent of schools, is bringing to the attention of radio listeners every Tuesday and Thursday mornings over station WMAQ. They may be only a sentence or two, but they serve to make the general public more school conscious.

Will the travel and lecture series as planned for Palatine high school evening school be a flop in Palatine? There has been so little interest displayed by residents that the school may be forced to drop the series and refund part of the $4.00 that has been paid for the season tickets.

The first and maybe the last of the series will be presented Friday evening. Such a series has been very successful in Arlington Heights where 340 season tickets were sold for the present course.

North Western train service between Arlington Heights and Chicago has not improved in the past 34 years as naturally expected. A time card dated January 31, 1919 brought to the publication office by Mrs. J. Simroe has 16 daily trains scheduled. Today there are twenty, only four additional.

The running time of the fastest train has been shortened by only three minutes, and we still have some of those 1919 cars still in service.

Here is some news for those who buy homes in Virginia Terrace. That subdivision may be within Arlington Heights corporate limits, but it is served by School District No. 24, the Wilson school. The developer thought when he sold city service to his customers, it included the school system as well.

School District No. 24 is not happy about the situation. Of course, District No. 25 could have its own Marshall plan.

A hasty checking of public opinion on the village manager plan reveals that the average Arlington Heights citizen is not opposed to the change. Many agree with the three sponsoring aldermen, Messrs. Zimmerman, Carlisle and Bishop, that much of the present confusion could be eliminated by placing the responsibility of economical and efficient operation of village affairs upon one man. At present, that responsibility is shared by six men who can only give their spare hours to do the job.

We favor the ordinance plan because we think it is economical and because it could be ended by the village board at any time by repealing the ordinance. If the change was left to a referendum, Arlington Heights would be saddled with the plan until a second referendum repeals it.

Under the state law, the village manager would be in full control of village finances. Under the proposed ordinance, he could not spend more than $500 for any one purpose without approval of the board, which we think a wise provision.

Under the ordinance plan, the mayor, village clerk and aldermen would continue to hold their jobs and exercise full authority provided by law. Any readjustment of employees or official salaries, because of a change in their work, would rest with the village council.

The news columns of this issue have an unbiased resume of the provisions of the ordinance that is on the agenda for early passage.

Suggest Subdividers Aid Schools Until Taxes Arrive

State Legislation Could Require Fee For Home Construction

One positive conclusion was reached by school board members and home builders who attended a parley called by county superintendent of schools, Nobel J. Puffer, Tuesday afternoon at the Hotel Sherman in Chicago: There is no simple solution to the complex problems facing schools in rapidly growing communities.

"A home developed community cannot carry the cost of education," Puffer said in his opening statements. He said a survey made by his office showed there are 95 active subdividers, meaning those planning to build 50 or more homes in 45 suburban school districts. Although some plans are for developments to be completed within two years, the total homes contemplated is 11,169 in suburban Cook county.

PUFFER suggested a closer liaison between builders and school officials, so school sites and facilities could be jointly planned when a subdivision is laid out. He stressed the financial obligation placed on present home owners because of the usual two year lag before a new home pays taxes, although the children from the home attend school immediately.

Not only is a school board unable to hire additional teachers, but no additional bonding power to construct more classrooms accrues until the home is on the tax rolls.

Elementary enrollment in suburban Cook county grew 9000 last year, he said.

The ratio of assessed value of homes to true value is 46%, he stated. Using round figures, he pointed out a $15,000 home assessed at 50% would net only $75 per year in taxes to a school district levying $1 for educational purposes. The minimum cost per student of any district in the county is $170 per year.

BOTH SCHOOL people and builders presented their sides of the problem when Puffer threw the meeting wide open. Any real relief would require legislation was determined.

Interim assistance could be worked out on a local level, it was apparent.

Kimball Hill sought to separate the situation created by a large development from the steady growth when a number of smaller builders enter a community. He suggested schools might charge a fee for each new home, similar to fees villages collect.

David B. Maloney, attorney for several districts represented at the conference, said a law could be drafted to charge a fee or license to offset the two year lag.

Builders are interested, but didn't know the problem existed, according to the president of the Southwest Suburban Builders' Association.

In some communities, builders set aside a proportionate share of the sale price toward helping the local schools. Park Forest, where the developer has constructed school buildings which are being leased to the school districts until bonding power is sufficient to make an outright purchase, was cited.

SOME BUILDERS claimed their margin of profit was too slim to permit aid to the schools. They pointed out it is difficult to pass this extra cost along to the purchaser.

Others expressed a desire to work with their local school boards, feeling good school facilities were to their best interests.

Puffer endeavored to limit the discussion to problems affecting home builders. He offered to call another meeting to discuss consolidation of districts to equalize the assessed valuation by combining rich and poor districts.

School boards should have a frank discussion with the local assessor to get new homes on the tax rolls, it was suggested. A board member should sit in on village plan commission meetings to watch out for school interests was another suggestion.

Puffer asked that school boards and builders seek to work out a solution to each local problem until such time as the state legislature provides relief. He asked that boards discuss the matter, and work together to present a comprehensive program to the next legislative session.

Provisions Of Village Manager Ordinance Given To Public

If Arlington Heights elects to have a village manager, that man will not be hampered by elected officials, or politics in the handling of his office. The proposed ordinance is very broad and gives him not only responsibilty but the tools and authority to handle the job in a manner which he thinks is to the best interest of the municipaliiy.

The ordinance has two "control brakes." in it. The village board can fire him at any time and he can not spend more than $500 for any one purpose without approval of the board.

The ordinance has the unqualified endorsement of Aldermen Zimmerman, Bishop and Carlisle. Other members have not definitely expressed themselves.

A meeting of representatives of local property owners associations is being held at the field house as this paper goes to press.

Mr. C. Harold Easch, village manager of Brookfield, Ill., will be the principal speaker.

The terms of an ordinance usually do not become public until after its actual passage. Because of the importance of this ordinance the following resume is given:

The Ordinance provides that the village manager shall be appointed by the President and Board of Trustees voting jointly. The manager will not be required to live in Arlington Heights at the time of his appointment, but will be required to establish his residence here during the tenure of his office. The term of appointment is for an indefinite period and may be terminated at anytime by majority vote of the Village Board.

Under the proposed ordinance, the duties, responsibility and authority of the village manager are broad enough to make him the chief administrative officer of the village and makes him responsible to the board for the management and operation of all affairs and departments of the village. This includes: the department of public works, the water department, the police department, department of streets, health department, finance department and the general offices of the village. With respect to his administration of the police and fire departments, he is to conform to the statutes pertaining to the fire and police commissioners article.

These provisions in the ordinance makes the village manager the supervisor of all village employees and officials except for those who are elected to office, who will remain in office until their terms expire.

The ordinance also provides that the village manager shall make recommendations to the board for the appointment of all officers of the village and shall make recommendation to the board for the suspension or removal of such officers if such action is in the best interests of the village.

He shall make all necessary purchases of supplies and equipment for all departments of the Village and for that purpose he is authorized to make expenditures of $500.00 or less, without preliminary authorization by the Board; provided, however, that all expenditures and payments, regardless of amount, shall be subject to the confirmation or approval of the Board and to the limitations imposed by the adoption of a budget or the annual appropriation ordinance.

The village manager shall be required to attend all meetings of the village board and shall have the right to participate in the discussions, although he will not have the right to vote.

He shall make investigations into the affairs of the Village, or any department or division thereof, and shall investigate all complaints in relation to matters concerning Village services and Village administration.

He shall prepare a recommended annual budget for each new fiscal year sixty days prior to the end of the preceding year. Further, he shall prepare a detailed account of expenditures monthly for presentation to the board.

With the approval of the board, the manager shall have the right to reorganize the positions and departments of the village.

The manager shall have full charge of all village employees and shall have the authority to appoint or discharge any employee. He shall be required to submit to the board at its next meeting the full reasons for the discharge of any employee.

He shall have power to issue on behalf of the Board all licenses and permits not otherwise provided for by ordinance or statute.

He shall keep himself advised on all public improvements within the Village and for that purpose copies of plans and specifications for any such improvements shall be filed in his office when such plans and specifications have been completed.

Except for the purpose of inquiry, the elected officials of the Village shall deal with the administrative service only through the Village Manager; and such officials shall not give orders to any subordinates of the Village Manager, either publicly or privately. No directions shall be given to the Village Manager except by the board.

The village manager shall devote his full time to his job. He shall be prohibited from entering into local politics.

The ordinance also has provision for the conduct of elected officials in that they are not permitted to give orders direct to any village employee nor shall they be permitted to give direct order to the manager except by majority vote of the board.

Rehfeldt Asks Greater Economy By Municipality

Alderman Chas. F. Rehfeldt, chairman of the finance committee of Arlington Heights, has prepared a financial statement showing appropriations and expenditures of the village for the past seven months. That report is enlightening and might be called alarming, according to Rehfeldt, who says he can see increases in village as well as school taxes next year to an extent that will not be relished by the average taxpayer.

The preparation of the report, which will be published next week is in compliance to the election plank of the Home Party which promised taxpayers periodical financial reports.

While present budget balances total $280,822.64, with only five months more to go, overdrafts total over $10,000. "It is not unusual," says Rehfeldt, "for a municipality to be faced with unexpected costs. While the costs of this year will be within the total budget figure, I think there is need for a sharpening of pencils and greater economy.

"THESE ADDITIONAL subdivisions and new residents increase the cost of our normal municipal services as well as our schools. There is every reason to believe that next year's budget of both will jump. Mayor Goedke and I insisted on a cut in the original budget of this year, and eventually succeeded in reducing its total by

Applicants for the village manager's position are already being interviewed and if the ordinance is adopted, it is hoped that the person selected can be appointed and take office by January 1, 1954. (Park Ridge recently received 90 applications for their new village manager position).

Yule Concert Sunday At High School

The annual Christmas Concert of the music department of Arlington Heights high school will be presented to the public Sunday, at 3 p.m., in the new gym on N. Ridge ave.

The large gym is expected to provide seating for all who wish to attend, something that has not been available in recent years. Because of the seating capacity, no tickets will be required. Admission is free, and all who are interested are invited to attend.

Members of the art, speech, and bandfront classes have joined with the entire music department in preparing the program.

Art students, directed by Ed Fischer, art instructor, have prepared an elaborate set for the number "T'was the Night Berore Christmas."

Readings will be done by members of Larry Jenness's speech classes.

All units in the music department are involved in the program. They are directed by Fredrick C. Schmoyer, Martin Dahlberg, and June Leick.

Judy Walters will present an organ prelude from 2:45 to 3 p.m., with Violet Jeffery opening the program with a reading from the scriptures.

Three selections by the treble clef choir and freshmen girls choruses, accompanied by Judy Walters will follow with a concerto by the string orchestra, with soloists, Sharon Newman, violin, Alec Catherwood, violin, and Emily Sherrill, cello, taking part.

The concert band will present four selections with Sharon Newman playing a piano solo.

Congregational singing with orchestra, band and organ joining in, will follow. "T'was the Night Before Christmas," will then be presented by the A Capella Choir and mixed chorus, with Adrienne Double as accompanist, and John Lee and Bob Ryan as soloists.

Modern dancers from the band front class, directed by Miss Elaine England, will also join in this number. Dancers will be Barbara Lohse, Judy Luehring, Joanne Beatty and Marilyn Behrens.

Hope Seffens and Barbara Sheets will be story tellers for "The Littlest Angel," with Barbara Messner, Suzanne Franke, Kay Rask, Lenaye Gabel and Charlene Hagberg of the band front doing a ballet. A human Christmas tree in song will then be presented by the A Capella choir and mixed chorus, accompanied by Adrienne Double.

Santa Claus To Arrive Here This Saturday

Good old Santa Claus is scheduled to arrive in Arlington Heights Saturday, at 3 p. m. This announcement was made by the Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the Christmas activities in the village.

HEADQUARTERS will be at the village hall, though Santa will appear on the scene at Dunton and Northwest hwy., and will parade through the town escorted by he police and fire deparments, with the Arlingon high school band furnishing the holiday music. Line of march will be: east on Northwest hwy., to State rd., south on State rd. to Davis, west on Davis to the village hall.

Santa will greet all children at his headquarters. For the convenience of those who can't be there Saturday Santa will also be at his headquarters on the following dates: December 16 18, 22 and 23, from 6:30 to 8:30 p. m., and Saturday afternoon, December 19, from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m.

'Off-Street Parking Only Solution,' Says Attorney Thal

The police, the firemen and many residents of Arlington Heights seem to favor the one-way street program, though many of the businessmen feel their installation has definitely been a detriment to business.

One-way streets were discussed pro and con at a special meeting Tuesday night called by the planning commission and attended by village trustees, businessmen, representatives from subdivisions, community organizations and private individuals.

A report on the one-way street program was submitted by Chief of Police Carl H. Skoog and read by Edmund O'Brien, chairman of the planning commission. In part the letter stated the one-way street program is a success, the police found the majority of the motoring public in favor of one-way streets, and that it was the Chief's opinion that businesses in Arlington Heights would be benefited by the continuance of one-way streets. The letter further stated the program has lessened congestion in the business area and has made more parking spaces available. Skoog pointed out parking would be even better if shoppers would remember that on Friday night and all day Saturday the railroad parking lot on the south side of the tracks, between Dunton and Vail aves. is reserved for shopper parking, with a 90 minute time limit. On-street parking is limited to one hour.

THOUGH AN official report was not turned in by Fire Chief Elroy Winkelman, he told Chairman O'Brien before the meeting that his department did not find one-way streets hazardous or undesirable in time of emergency.

A letter from Edward R. Klamm of Arlington Heights, who is manager of accident prevention for an insurance company, stated that the one-way program should be continued for a longer period so its merits or demerits could be better evaluated. In his opinion he did not feel it would be possible to lose business due to one-way streets.

Another letter from Ted Seiler of Arlington Heights stated the one-way streets were a beginning to solving the problem of congestion in the loop but they were not the answer to the over-all problem. He then went on to give some suggestions and ideas on what could be done to improve the situation.

CLARENCE Hendrickson, speaking as chairman of the Chamber of Commerce planning and industrial committee, told the commission it was felt the short streets in Arlington were not especially adaptable to one-way streets, and he felt additional parking gained through the program was not enough to solve the problem.

Elmer Franzen, president of the Arlington Heights National Bank, was of the opinion that in general the program was all right, but he felt something should be done about the fact no parking is allowed on the bank side of the street, making it necessary for everyone coming to the bank to park across the street and cross a busy thoroughfare on foot.

Ted Studtmann of Studtmann Furniture company told the commission he found one-way streets a detriment to business. He says with this plan there is five times as much traffic on Vail, between Davis and Campbell, five times as many empty parking spaces in that block on Vail, and though the traffic past his store has been increased, his customers have not.

THOSE THAT do manage to get into his store are so thoroughly disgusted with the one-way program that they threaten to take their business elsewhere. He lays the problem to the fact anyone who wants to get to the post office must go west on Davis to Vail and south on Vail, and anyone from the north side of town who wants to park in front of his store must make a U turn or go around several blocks to get in the right position.

Marguerite Tuttle, a clerk at the Emerald Shop, and Dan Senne, proprietor of the shop, said customers have repeatedly told them they would shop elsewhere rather than buck the one-way streets and the parking problem in Arlington. Most of these customers were from ton Bootery, says his customers also found the program confusing and told him they would shop elsewhere. These again, were mostly out-of-town shoppers.

DON HAGER of Don Hager TV and Appliances, said although the first trip through the village would be confusing to newcomers, that once they got used to the program they would find it satisfactory. He finds it much easier to get his vehicles from the end of the vil-

Stonegate Association Gives Approval of One-way Street Program

A three man panel from the Arlington Heights Plan Commission appeared before the members of the Stonegate Association Monday night. Principal speaker of the evening was Rudolph Lacina, secretary of the Plan Commission.

E. J. O'Brien, chairman of the commission, and C. F. Seales Jr. assisted in a question and answer session.

Much interest was shown by Stonegaters in the report of progress made by the commission on new subdivision and parking problems. Members present voted unanimously in favor of the one-way street system when asked to express their preference by L. W. Bredehoft, Stonegate Association president.

The commission representatives explained present plans for the new shopping center and Tri-State highway. The Stonegate members went strongly on record that the proposed highway be moved at least one-half mile further east of the subdivision. The Plan Commission is to file a formal report on the Tri-State road with the village council in the near future.

Parcel Post Lagging In Christmas Rush

Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Palatine post offices will be open all day Saturday, Dec. 12, Wednesday, Dec. 16 and Saturday, Dec. 19 until 5 p.m., for the accommodation of Christmas mail.

The days before Christmas are going by much faster than the mail is coming in, according to Postmaster Virginia F. Dodge.

"I've already noticed a considerable increase in Christmas card sending," she reported. "But parcel post is lagging behind. Actually, it should be the other way around."

All gift packages for nearby points should be mailed no later than December 10. Christmas cards require less time to cover the same distance. They should be posted by December 15 for out-of-town delivery, and at least a week before Christmas for local addresses.

Postmaster Dodge points out that unless these mailing dates are observed, there's a danger of incoming mail slowing up the outgoing operation. Commercial shipments are another hazard that may prevent delivery before December 25.

Canceling machines are now registering about 10,000 pieces of mail per day. Once the big rush begins, they will average 50,000 daily clicks.

Barber Shops Announce Hours for Holidays

The Arlington Heights barber shops will be open all day on the Wednesday before Christmas and the Wednesd before New Years. They will be closed on the Christmas and New Year's holidays, as well as on the Saturday following each holiday. Regular hours will be resumed as of January 4.

CIRCLING THE TOWN

BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

A dramatic adaption of "Amahl and the Night Visitors" is being produced this week by members of the Village Theatre, under the direction of Mrs. G. E. Staahl. Mrs. Robert Hawley wrote the play form from the story of the opera by Gian Carlo-Menotti. It is given here by special permission.

Presented by the Village Theatre Talent bank, Amahl tells the story of the crippled shepherd boy who is visited by the Three Kings on their way to Bethlethem. It incorporates a visit to the home of the boy by neighboring children. Among these children are dancers—from the Delores Eiler school—who do a charming pastoral number.

Tuesday night "Amahl and the Night Visitors" was presented at Family Night at the Methodist church, and Saturday will be given again at the Presbyterian church at their annual Sunday Christmas party.

Village Theatre Talent bank is designed to produce short plays for groups who request entertainment at their meetings. Productions have ranged from scenes from full-length classical plays to one-acts which were chosen with a specific objective in mind. In most cases the plays are "portable," being transported by the actors via car to the next place of production. Costumes and props are often ingenious, and the Talent Bank has been in considerable demand, performing about two dozen times in the last couple of years.

Gift Idea

Members of Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic Woman's club are being assisted in Christmas shopping tonight, Thursday, when a book fair is being held as a part of their regular monthly meeting in the high school cafeteria.

Library and Literature is sponsoring the affair, which will bring Miss Catherine Gallagher of the Thomas More Book Talk service to Arlington Heights. Miss Gallagher's subject is "So You Don't Have Time to Read," in which she tells that "books must not only entertain but must also instruct, especially in helping counteract the moral and intellectual decadence of the modern world."

Listeners will be given a list of current choice books, and may look over those and others which will be on display. A business meeting and social hour are also part of the program.

At Home

Home and service for the aged are now "at home" in their attractive new building on Oakton st., adjoining Sherwood.

Residents have been in their new quarters about 10 days now, and continually find something extra that pleases them. Everything, inside and out, is spanking new and modern. Rooms are arranged in suites with two bedrooms and connecting bath. Furniture is metal and attractive.

Recreation rooms, dining and kitchen, chapel and hospital quarters for bedridden patients are cheerful, roomy and tastefully decorated. The new Home is sure to be a showplace of the Chicago area among Homes of its type.

Posting The Guard

by SGT. BOB SCHAFFER

Most parents are wary of the term "military future." To them it means that their son will leave home or college; it also means great distances between parents and son and it means letters, pictures and the fear from within. It also puts amiss all those plans, at least for the time being, that they so sincerely made. This could happen, but it need not if parents take it in their stride and realize what it does mean. Parents should give it some of that thought and planning they so diligently give everything else. Better they plan that military future themselves, investigate and check into the selective service system, the Reserves and the National Guard.

Yes, Dad, check into your son's military future in the same manner you used to check into his coming college career; or chances are that a college career will be seriously interrupted by an unexpected draft notice.

NATIONAL GUARD would like to serve as your counsel in determining the facts you question most. Any questions concerning the military will be honestly answered every Tuesday evening at our armory: 216 No. Dunton st. in Arlington Heights.

Just recently William Martin Jr., formerly of Troy, New York, enlisted in Company M. Being a new neighbor in our community, we were glad he chose to enlist so soon. He was a member of regimental Hqs 105th Infantry, 27th Regiment of the New York National Guard.

Bill has six years service behind him and should prove to be a valuable asset to our unit. Pfc Martin has attended six summer encampments at Camp Drum, New York, which is about 180 miles from his former home in Troy. He is now employed by the Bay City Addressing Co. of Chicago as a warehouse man.

DID YOU KNOW THAT——Harry Truman was an active guardsman in the 35th Missouri division, earning a captaincy during World War I with the 129th Field Artillery. Today the 129th maintains a "D" Battery——the only one in the national guard in his honor.

1-Way Streets—

out-of-town, though several Arlington customers said the same thing.

Carl Ewert, proprietor of Arlinglage to the other and also truck drivers making deliveries find one-way streets very satisfactory.

Nelson Hauff, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, but speaking as an individual, said though he did not conduct a poll, he did talk to many of the south side businessmen on one-way streets and he felt the majority were not in favor of the program, though several he talked to had no objections. He suggested if Highland were changed to northbound instead of southbound, that some of the congestion at Campbell street could be relieved.

Ed Christen of Christen's Food Shop told the commission he was happy with the one-way program. He has lived here for 20 years and for most of that time there has been a traffic problem. He feels this is the beginning of a solution and was glad to see some start made at last. He further stated he asked many of his customers how they felt about one-way streets and all but one said they thought they were fine.

2 — ONE WAY STREET ....

WALTER KRAUSE of Krause and Kehe Realty told the commission if one-way streets continued he didn't believe the streets should be widened. He believes all streets should be two-way, that all streets in the business district should be widened and that parking meters should be installed and revenue from them used to buy property for off street parking.

Spokesmen representing subdivisions and organizations and individuals were then given an opportunity to voice their opinions on the program. Space does not permit quoting each one, but all subdivisions represented were in favor of the one-way program. These included Scarsdale, Eastwood, Stonegate, Terrace Owners Ass'n and Laurinwood Ass'n. Spokesman for the latter, however, said that it was a draw in their subdivision, and that he couldn't personally say which system the residents preferred. He, himself, was not in favor of the program, because one-way streets tend to confuse. His company employs truck drivers, and he says these men bitterly complain about one-way streets.

Quentin Ford, speaking in behalf of the Lions club, told the commission the club would be willing to help in any way it could to secure off street parking, which they feel is a solution to the traffic congestion in the village.

As an individual, Ford was opposed to the one-way program, as it takes longer to get from one end of the village to the other due to having to go around the block to get to where one wants to go.

Don Hartman, speaking for the Arlington-Prospect Kiwanis club said that the club voted favorably on the one-way street program.

SEVERAL individuals present expressed they were in favor of the one-way program as it made it easier to get through the village and it was also easier to find a place to park. One individual, who is a salesman, says that each town has its own problems and has to set up its own rules regarding the flow of traffic. If motorists cannot follow simple directions posted on signs, then they should not be driving a car.

Trustee Charles Rehfelt, speaking as an individual, felt a special referendum on the matter should be held in order to get the true feeling of the general public.

Village Attorney Hugo J. Thal said in his opinion the only way the problem will be solved is to provide off street parking, and he pointed out three ways in which it could be done. Some people feel the railroad parks should be used for parking, but in Thal's opinion such an act would be a crime, as the railroad parks are what mak- Arlington Heights.

ONE WAY of financing off street parking would be a bond issue voted on by the people, another would be the issuing of revenue bonds to be paid for out of proceeds from parking meters and another would be to have the businessmen form a syndicate, buy parking property and lease them to the village with an option to buy. The village would reimburse the businessmen out of proceeds from parking meters.

At the end of the meeting, it was apparent that the one-way streets themselves were not the flaw in the ointment, but the lack of proper parking facilities. The plan commission will take all these facts under advisement and will present a recommendation on how to solve the situation to the village board in the near future.

Neighborhood Doings

Mr. and Mrs. William Andres and family were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andres of Chicago.

Mrs. Stephen Murphy is a patient at Sherman hospital in Elgin.

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Splitt had a double celebration Thanksgiving day. Their daughter, Debbie, celebrated her birthday and their new son, Michael, was baptized at St. James church after mass. Michael's godparents were Mrs. Rosemary Wagner and Wayne Wagner. Joining them for the day were grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Wagner and Mr. and Mrs. John Splitt, and great grandmother, Mrs. Frances Wirshing.

March of Dimes

Mrs. Dean Currier made the kickoff speech at the first meeting of the executive committee of the "March of Dimes" Tuesday evening at the home of Benjamin Rumage of Lincoln rd. in Winnetka. Mrs. Currier is one of twelve official members of the Speakers Bureau, a volunteer group for Cook county, which will work in behalf of contributions on this year's campaign. They are stressing the need for contributions for vaccines this year with great hope that this might be the answer to the protection against polio.

Birthdays

Darlene Fex was the guest of honor at a recent surprise party given at her home for her fourteenth birthday. The party was planned by her classmates and included, Carol Finch, Richard Rademacher, Helen Matt, Ronnie Gaar, Sharon Engelking, Tom Kelly and Jerry Fulging. They all enjoyed games, dancing and refreshments.

Marilou Jaqubiec enjoyed her sixth birthday party recently celebrated on a Sunday afternoon. Her guests were Billie Stablien, Karen Palacek, Jean Kenyon, Susan Black, Mary Ehrke and her brother, Jimmy, who were treated to lunch and the movies.

Cindy Flodin was 6 years old last Saturday and spent the day on a shopping tour and lunch with her mother, Mrs. John Flodin. The family had dinner that evening at the home of Cindy's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Flodin of Chicago.

Marsha Gray will entertain eight friends with games and refreshments at her eighth birthday party Saturday afternoon.

Charlotte Kreusch will celebrate her fifth birthday in advance, seeing that it's just two days from Christmas. Her party will be this Saturday for six neighborhood friends who will enjoy movies and refreshments.

Brownies

The girls in the second grade Brownie troop at Ridge school entertained their mothers at their investiture ceremony last Wednesday when the girls received their pins. Punch and cookies were served by the Brownies to their mothers. The leaders of this troop are Mrs. Lorenz Goehe, Mrs. Roy Spieker and Mrs. Newton Stablien.

Lions to Canvass Arlington Selling Brooms for Blind

Albert W. Goedke, president of the village board of Arlington Heights, has authorized the Lions club to make a house to house canvass to sell brooms and rubber door mats made by the blind employees of Arkansas Lighthouse for the Blind.

This canvassing will be done from December 11 through 19. Friday night, December 11, and Saturday afternoon, December 12, brooms will be sold at various street corners in the business district. The village has been set up in sections in charge of team captains assisted by a number of fellow Lions and Boy Scouts.

One nice feature about the canvass, the broom or door mat will be delivered on the spot so housewives will not need to wait for their order.

One important thing to remember is that by purchasing a broom from the Lions, one is aiding an unfortunate blind person. Because of the nature of this canvass the Chamber of Commerce did not feel it was necessary to issue solicitor permits to the Lions.

Heights Debate Squad Wins 10 Debates in Niles Practice Contest

Arlington's debate squad, now in its third year of active competition, maintained a good balance on the winning side of the ledger by taking ten out of their 16 debates at the Niles township high school practice tournament last Saturday.

The varsity affirmative team of Jack Johnston and Bern Schnyder continued their winning ways by taking three out of their four contests although they had the toughest schedule of any team in the tourney. The boys beat Evanston, DeKalb, and New Trier, losing only to LaGrange, last year's state champs.

Violet Jeffery and Natalie Glover, debating as the varsity negative team, showed considerable improvement by splitting their decisions, losing to Freeport and Niles before defeating Blue Island and Leyden.

In the beginners division, Pete Swanson and Pete Holloway compiled the only perfect record of the tourney by taking all four of their opponents. They met Freeport, Niles, Blue Island, and Leyden.

Mickey Harris and Sally Fluent, Arlington beginning affirmative team, defeated DeKalb and lost to Evanston, LaGrange and New Trier.

While all Arlington debaters, with the exception of Bern Schnyder, are new to debate this year, all but Violet Jeffery will have at least one more year of competition. Coach Larry Jenness is pleased with the results shown in the practice tournaments so far, and he states that his present group has come along much faster than did last year's squad.

Woman's Club Appoints Polio Drive Chairman

Arlington Heights Woman's club has appointed Mrs. Melvin Kurtz, 805 S. Dunton ave., chairman of the "March of Dimes" drive, which will open January 2, 1954, and continue through January 28.

Last Tuesday the County Communities division held their meeting at the LaSalle hotel and more than 90 suburban communities were represented.

Dr. Martin Seifert, head of the polio staff at the Evanston hospital, who for many years has been a leader in the fight against polio and has worked with hundreds of polio victims in the past years, discussed at length the medical advancements in the development of a polio vaccine. He stated that as the result of constant research, medical science is now on the threshold of finding a preventative vaccine.

The polio foundation is called upon to help those stricken and in many cases its help is required for some years afterwards. Therefore each year the burden becomes heavier and it is more important than ever that all citizens give as much as they can afford.

The "Mothers March For Dimes" will be held January 27, and will call upon all mothers to assist in making this drive a success in Arlington Heights and all its subdivisions. Anyone interested in helping, is asked to contact any of the committee members: Mrs. Edward Corcoran, Mrs. Albert Seidel, Mrs. Arthur Trevor, Mrs. H. Burnett, Mrs. W. Inman, Mrs. J. Wood and Mrs. Harry Pearson, treasurer.

First Step Of Orchard Place Annexation Oked

Judge Byron E. Koch approved the Orchard Place annexation request. By so doing, attorney W. F. Levander, representing approximately 80-90 per cent of the residents asking annexation to Des Plaines, may now submit the request to the city council. Judge Koch signed the order after hearing objections by attornies Frank Opeka and Raymond Trafalet.

Opeka told the court he represented a portion of the residents in the area between Maple and Mannheim, known as Glen Acres, and such was opposed to the annexation request. However, he didn't submit any petitions or written evidence and therefore his objection was not considered.

Northwest Symphony Membership Drive Now In Progress

A spokesman for Northwest Symphony Orchestra announced this week that a membership drive for playing members is now underway. The Northwest Symphony meets every Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. in Maine high school orchestra room.

The Northwest Symphony Orchestra, which is incorporated not for profit, has been in existence a relatively short time, but in that time has become well known in the Chicago area for its musical undertakings.

At the present time there are 55 playing members in rehearsal for the first concert January 24, under the direction of Perry Crafton, first violinist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

There are now openings in all strings, clarinets, oboes, bassoons, trombones and French horn sections. Contact Mrs. Raburn McNeal, personnel director, 955 E. Grant dr., VA 4-6396, for further information.

To become an associate member for $10 or a patron for $25, call VA 4-4431. This entitles the associate or patron to two tickets to each concert and the appearance of their names in the program. (A8

Children's Choir To Give Concert

The seventh annual Christmas concert will be presented by the Chicagoland Lutheran Children's choir December 19 beginning at 8:15 p.m. at Luther high school north auditorium, 5700 W. Berteau ave., Chicago.

The choir is directed by its founder, John G. Rieck, 4543 N. Bernard st., Chicago, director of music at Tabor Lutheran church, 3532 Sunnyside ave., Chicago.

A group of 50 boys and girls between 11 and 15 years of age will offer a program of Christmas carols from many lands.

This will be a benefit performance, proceeds to be designated for the benefit of Luther high school north. Tickets are priced at $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. These may be purchased at the door or be obtained in advance from members of the choir. (B4

Nurses' Club Elects Officers

Arlington Heights Nurses' club elected officers at its November meeting.

The new officers are: Mrs. Frank Schwanke, president; Mrs. Samuel Wit, vice president; Mrs. Alfred Loll, recording secretary; Mrs. Richard Kriebel, treasurer, and Mrs. John Low, corresponding secretary.

The annual Christmas party will be held December 17 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Albert Peters, 403 N. Belmont. Hostesses will be Mesdames Jesse Weiss, Norma Raffel, Erma Stacy, Betsy Ward, Lois Grewe, Lucille Jirgal, Marion Bloecker and Alice Weber.

Close Rte. 14 Northwest Of Barrington

U. S. 14 was closed northbound from Barrington last week and traffic rerouted over routes 59 and 22.

The highway will be closed for an indefinite period.

Work looking to stablilizing the peat bog this side of Pepper road, preparatory to widening the highway, has been begun by E. A. Meye Construction company of Highland Park. This firm has the contract for grading.

They will be followed by the I. H. Mass Construction company of Algonquin. The Mass firm has the contract for installation of dual bridges over Flint creek at the peat bog point.

Contract for widening the highway has not been let.

Presbyterians Plan Yule Party For Children

The annual Church school Christmas party of the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights will be held December 12 between 2 and 4 p. m. This is for all children and young people of the church school.

A special part of the party will be the play, "Amahl and the Night Visitors," which has been adapted by Mrs. Kay Hawley from the opera written by Menotti.

The director is Mrs. Gustav Staahl and the characters will include, Ricky Hawley, Mrs. Donald Nygren, Jim Solon, Dave Meineke, Donald Nygren, Joe Crittenden, Bruce Nygren, Sherry Crittenden, Grace, Gregg and Connie Beckway, Roberta Hawley and David and Lynn Shaughnessy.

The part of dancing shepherds will be performed by Wanda Eakins, Juanita Graves, Judy Bown, Brenda Rudolph, all of whom are pupils at the Delores Eiler School of Dancing.

Children attending the party are asked to bring a new or near-new toy which will be delivered to Grace Community church, Chicago, for distribution to deserving children at their Christmas party which will be held December 18. These toys will be taken to Grace Community church by members of the Women's Association which annually provides a Christmas party for the children of that church.

Women's Guild To Hear Seasonal Musical Program

A program of seasonal music presented by students of Arlington Heights high school will highlight the Christmas meeting of the Women's Guild of St. James Catholic church, Arlington Heights, December 15 at 8:30 p. m. in the parish school hall.

The program will consist of songs by an octet composed of Jack Lee, Bob Rankine, Jim Ahmer, Carroll Warner, Bob Russel, Phil Wintergerat, Gil Haas and Roy Feind with a solo by Jack Lee accompanied by Adrienne Double.

An instrumental group, Ed Seeley and his Ramblers, Gil Haas and Don Webber, will provide music.

Following the entertainment members will have the annual grab bag of 50 cent gifts.

Woman's Club Book Fair, Talk Tonight

Miss Catherine Gallagher, speaker with the Thomas More Book Talk service, will speak before the Catholic Woman's club of Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic church at 8:30 p. m. December 10 in the high school cafeteria. Her topic will be, "So, You Don't Have Time to Read."

In connection with this program, the library and literature committee of the club, is sponsoring a Book Fair. Books for all age groups will be available for all wishing to take advantage of this convenient opportunity to do their Christmas book shopping.

Hostess for the tea hour will be Mrs. Harry Gubbins.

Eastwood Group Plans Yule Party

The Eastwood Community Association of Arlington Heights held its monthly meeting December 1 at the field house. A timely presentation was conducted by Mrs. Sauerland and Miss Carol Taylor of the Sauerland Floral and Hobby shop.

A large assortment of evergreens, flowers, styrofoam, ribbons, and holly was used to demonstrate the making of floral arrangements, centerpieces, wreaths, door designs, and corsages for the holidays. The displays which were made during the program were awarded as prizes to several ladies at the drawing.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. George Brinke and Mrs. Carl Carlman.

Final arrangements were completed for the annual Christmas party for the neighborhood youngsters. Movies, songs, games and surprises are promised at a Christmas-decorated hall in the field house. Santa Claus, the host of the affair, will open festivities at 3 p. m., December 20. The teen-agers, with Jean Scott acting as chairman, are in charge of decorations.

Methodist Youth To Gather Toys

The Senior Methodist Youth Fellowship group will be out gathering discarded but usable toys December 13 to be given to needy children for Christmas.

They would appreciate a call from anyone having such toys they would like to give them. Those working on this project are Sue Marsh, Cl 3-4198; Barbara Russell, Cl 3-6759; and Carol Edelblute, Cl 3-0291, or a call may be made to the church office, Cl 3-0099.

The Intermediate Methodist Youth fellowship has been busy for some time preparing a Bible display for the church foyer for Universal Bible Sunday, December 13. They are hoping to have Bibles of all sizes, shapes, languages and translations. They would appreciate the loan of any Bible of unusual nature.

Christmas Music to Highlight PTA Meeting Tuesday Night

South school, Arlington Heights, will be aglow with Christmas lights and Christmas music, Tuesday, at 8:15 p. m., when the students of the elementary schools entertain their parents and members of the PTA with the annual pre-holiday program.

This year the drama department of the Junior high school, under the direction of Mrs. Eloise Fink, will present Oscar Wilde's play, "The Happy Prince," portraying the Spirit of Christmas. Musical adaptations between the scenes will be interpreted by choral groups under the direction of Walther Liebenow.

Immediately after the presentation of the colors and a brief business meeting, the program will be opened by caroling. The boys' chorus will do a group of companion carols; the Merry Melodies, a sixth grade girls' group, will present Nativity carols, followed by a seventh and eighth grade girls' chorus offering both companion and Nativity carols. These groups have been assisted by Miss Mary Hollander and Louis Rubidoux and will be accompanied by Miss Yvonne Craig.

Newcomers Plan Children's Party

The Newcomers' club of Arlington Heights will hold its annual Christmas party for children December 19 from 2 to 3:30 p.m. at the field house.

There will be games, prizes and refreshments on the agenda. All children attending are asked to bring a gift-wrapped 25 cent grab bag package.

Mrs. Clifford Warffuel, chairman, announced that all children will be welcomed.

Mothers' Club Plans Party For Husbands

The Mothers' club of St. Peter Lutheran school, Arlington Heights, will hold their annual Christmas party December 11 at 8 p.m. in the activity building.

Husbands are invited. and there will be a 50-cent gift exchange for both husbands and wives. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the program.

Holds Dinner Dance

The Cotillion club of Arlington Heights held its formal dinner dance Saturday at Mount Prospect Country club. This was the first dinner dance sponsored by the group and it met with much success.

The club was decorated for the season with wreaths and evergreens. A lighted tree, white felt sequin trimmed stockings and a festive buffet table added to the atmosphere.

Jack Cavan's orchestra furnished music for the evening.

Band Front Class Aids Band, Music Department

The bandfront class of Arlington Heights high school is a group that performs in coordination with the band and music department on such occasions as football games, basketball games, the Christmas program, and the operetta.

This year the class has 26 members ranging from freshmen through senior girls. Each year, all candidates, including those from previous year's classes, are required to audition for membership.

THE CHIEF qualifications for membership are these: an attractive appearance, dependability, punctuality, rhythm sense, physical coordination, the ability to attract and hold the interest of an audience, poise, grace and showmanship.

This fall the class was asked to present a modern dance demonstration for a Girls' athletic association workshop at East Rockford high school in Rockford. The audience consisted of approximately two hundred high school girls and faculty sponsors from schools all over northern Illinois. The performance consisted of modern dance warm-ups, techniques and composition. The girls were well received by the audience.

Currently the class members are working on the Christmas program in which they will present several dance numbers in cooperation with the chorus and instrumentalists.

Heights Teacher Wins Free Air Trip To Washington, D. C.

Nelson L. Lowry, dean of boys and head of the science department of Arlington Heights high school, has been selected as a winner in the 50th anniversary of Powered Flight contest for teachers. As one of the four winners from Illinois, he will receive a free air trip to Washington, D.C., for a three-day educational program climaxed with attendance at the Wright Memorial dinner December 17.

Lowry's winning entry was a complete organization of a teaching unit for aviation education on the ninth grade level.

The contest, open to all professional educators, was sponsored by the national committee to observe the 50th anniversary of powered flight. Four winners were selected from each state: one each for work in grades kindergarten through three, four through six, seven through nine, and ten through twelve.

In addition to the memorial dinner, the program for winning contestants will include a tour of the nation's capital, visits to air force, navy and civilian aviation facilities to see and learn about the latest advancements in aircraft and electronic navigational aids, and a series of meetings at which aviation education will be discussed by leaders of education, industry, and government.

Lowry has been prominent in organizations of science teachers for a number of years. He is currently biology editor of "Science and Math Journal," published by the National Association of Science Teachers; and chairman of the biology section of the Illinois Academy of Science.

Of the honors which have come to the science department under his supervision, he is proudest of the high number of awards won in science competitions by students of the high school.

High School Students, Employees to Get Free Chest X-rays

Sectional Spelling Bee at Junior High December 10

The Sectional spelling bee for the Public schools of this area will be held in the Junior high school gymnasium in Arlington Heights tonight, Thursday, at 7:30 p.m. This contest is sponsored by the Chicago Daily News.

There are approximately thirty pupils entered in the contest. The champion of this bee will receive a 17 jewel wrist watch and the first three spellers will qualify for the county finals.

The following students are the winners of the all-school match of the Arlington Junior high school and will represent their school in the sectional contest.

Warren Myers, 6th grade; Sandra Peterson, 7th grade; Claire Reid, 7th grade; Bruce Bolas, 8th grade; Sarajane Terbell, 8th grade.

The public is invited to attend this sectional match.

Schools which will be represented are Arlington Heights Junior high, Des Plaines Junior high, East Maine, Elk Grove, Feehanville, Mount Prospect, Orchard Place, Palatine, Prospect Heights, Wheeling and Wilson.

Winners in the Mount Prospect contest who will compete in the sectional contest are: Donella Hager, Melissa Smith, and David Schlaver. Paula Crawford will be the alternate in event one of the winners can't attend.

It will be recalled that one of the winners at this sectional spelling bee last year, Patricia Nolan of Arlington Heights, also won in Chicago and was one of the two representatives from Chicago at the National Bee in Washington, D. C.

Look For The Big Florsheim Shoe Sign

Lorraine Kerschke, Frank Robinson Wed

(Stephany Photo

St. Mary's church, Des Plaines, was the scene November 21, of the marriage of Miss Lorraine Kerschke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kerschke, Golf rd., Arlington Heights, and Frank Robinson, Des Plaines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Robinson, Kentland, Ind.

Rev. Patrick Bird officiated at the 2 p.m. ceremony. V. Eugene Finnegan sang "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus" accompanied at the organ by Miss Lauer. Baskets of chrysanthemums formed the setting for the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of chiffon white velvet ending in a cathedral train. The collar and cuffs of the princess style gown were trimmed with seed pearls and sequins. Her nylon tulle fingertip length veil was held in place by a small cap trimmed with seed pearls and sequins. The bride carried a bouquet of gardenias and feathered mums.

Mrs. Carl Funk was the matron of honor. Miss Geraldine Senne, Miss Ange Alonge and Mrs. Arthur Lister were the bridesmaids. All the attendants wore strapless velvet gowns fashioned with velvet jackets. The matron of honor wore emerald green velvet and the bridesmaids wore pakiston velvet gowns. Velvet headpieces and mink muffs completed their outfits.

Carl Funk was best man. Orville Christionson, Alvin Pagels and Arthur Lister were the ushers.

A buffet supper was served to 300 guests at the VFW clubhouse in Mount Prospect.

The couple honeymooned in Biloxi, Miss., and are now making their home at 714 Lee st., Des Plaines.

The bride, who was graduated from Maine township high school and St. Francis school of nursing in Evanston, is employed at the Fahey Medical center in Des Plaines. The groom, a graduate of Purdue university, is with Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

Out-of-town guests came from Waterloo, Iowa; South Haven, Mich.; Gary, Lafayette and Kentland, Ind.; Aurora, Kankakee and Waukegan, Ill.

Helen Etters Is Bride Of Herman Zoellick

(Bak Photo

In a double ring, candlelight ceremony December 5, Miss Helen Etters, daughter of Mrs. Emil Essiler of Barrington, became the bride of Herman Zoellick Jr., son or Mr. and Mrs. Herman Zoellick Sr. of Palatine.

Rev. L. V. Stephan officiated at the ceremony held at 7 o'clock at St. Peter's Lutheran church, Arlington Heights. Miss Mary Anne Laseke sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Ottomar Kolb at the organ. Two baskets of mixed flowers decorated the church altars and were later sent to the Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged.

The bride, given in marriage by her great uncle, Charles Holtzee of Palatine, wore a waltz length gown of lace over satin fashioned with an illusion sweetheart neckline, a fitted bodice and long pointed sleeves. Her fingertip lengtl veil was held in place by a crown of pearls, and she carried a bouquet of carnations and lilies of the valley.

Miss Arliss Holtzee of Palatine, cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a waltz length rose gown of net over taffeta fashioned with a jacket over the strapless bodice and she carried a bouquet of light and dark rose carnations.

The bridesmaids, Miss Vera Holtzee of Palatine, cousin of the bride, and Miss Caroline Zoellick of Elgin, cousin of the groom, wore aqua gowns identical to that of the maid of honor. They also carried light and dark rose carnation bouquets.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Essiler wore a peacock blue afternoon dress and a corsage of yellow carnations. The groom's mother wore a blue taffeta afternoon dress and a corsage of pink carnations.

Lawrence Zoellick, brother of the groom, was best man. Ben Etters of Barrington, brother of the bride, and Marvin Engelking of Arlington Heights, cousin of the groom, were the ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception and buffet dinner were held in the Buffalo Grove school basement. More than 325 guests were present.

The couple are honeymooning in Florida and after December 2, will make their home temporarily with his parents.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Zoellick and family of Gordonsville, Va., brother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Zoellick and Mrs. Lydia Robeck of Belvidere, cousins of the groom.

Previous to her wedding the bride was guest of honor at five showers. The first was given by her sisters, Mrs. Betty Ankley and Miss Caroline Eissler, both of Barrington. Others were given by Mrs. Henry Schmidt of Elmhurst, aunt of the groom; Mrs. Herman Zoellick of Palatine, mother of the groom; Mrs. Janet Holtzee of Palatine, aunt of the bride, and the fifth was given by he co-workers at the Jewel Tea Co. in Barrington.

Favorites for Flavor

By LOIS SEILER

Recommended as a good cook with a special flair for making delicious salads is Mrs. Robert Drake, 741 S. Mitchell, Arlington Heights.

She is sharing with us a recipe for a molded shrimp salad, as well as her recipe for homemade mayonnaise which can be used in the salad or as an accompaniment to it.

The salad is a tempting combination of tomato soup, cream cheese, shredded shrimp, mayonnaise, chopped green pepper, celery and onion, with plain gelatin as the congealing agent.

The mayonnaise is creamy and smooth, and a little snappier than the commercial product.

This salad is excellent to serve at a luncheon or buffet supper, accompanied by a hot casserole.

The contributor of today's recipes is the busy mother of two, Ronald, 7, and Diane, 5. She is active in the Pi Beta Phi Alumnae club, the Arlington Heights Woman's club and the PTA.

Shrimp Salad

1 can tomato soup
3 three-ounce packages Philadelphia Cream Cheese
2 tablespoons (2 envelopes) plain gelatin
½ cup water
1 cup canned shrimp, shredded
1 green pepper, chopped
1 small onion, chopped
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup mayonnaise

Bring soup to a boil, add cream cheese and beat well. Add gelatin which has been softened in the water and mix well. Then add remaining ingredients.

Pour into mold and place in refrigerator to jell.

Mayonnaise

1 large egg
1 pint salad oil
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons light prepared mustard
1 tablespoon vinegar

Beat egg until foamy. Slowly add salad oil, beating constantly. Then add the salt and mustard and beat slowly. Add vinegar. Beat all of the ingredients hard and well, and if needed, add more salt.

Town And Country Chorus To Give 'The Messiah'

Town and Country chorus will present its first annual performance of "The Messiah" at Cutting hall, Palatine, December 20 at 8:15 p. m.

MARGARET DUNLAVEY

The group, under the direction of Lorraine Dean, will be accompanied by Virginia Campbell, pianist, and Mercie Heise, organist.

Soloists for this performance will be Patricia Sauers, soprano; Margaret Dunlavey, contralto; Wayland Campbell, tenor; and Dale Gilbert, bass.

Mr. Gilbert has recently returned from Crete, Neb., where he taught in the music school at Doane college. He did extensive solo work in that state during the three years of his stay there. His work is based on a broad musical education, for he has both bachelor's and master's degree in music from Northwestern university.

Mrs. Dunlavey, who studied on a scholarship at Michigan State college music school, was well known for her solo work in Detroit and East Lansing, Mich. More recently she has performed with the PTA chorus in Palatine.

Mrs. Sauers studied at the University of Washington, Seattle, and will be remembered for her solos with the chorus at their Christmas and spring concerts last year.

Wayland Campbell has also been a featured soloist with the Town and Country chorus on a number of occasions.

With the presentation of Handel's well-known oratorio the chorus will offer an appropriate opening to the Christmas season. Everyone is urged to attend this initial performance of "The Messiah." The organization is composed of singers from the entire northwest area. Members of church choirs and high school singing groups were also invited to sing with the chorus on this occasion.

Tickets may be purchased at $1 each from members of the chorus.

Audrey Wille, Robert Jensen Repeat Vows

(Community Camera

Baskets of large chrysanthemums and candelabra formed the setting for the marriage of Miss Audrey Jane Wille, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Elmer J. Wille, 1 S. Maple st., Mount Prospect, and Robert V. Jensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Jensen, 1742 N. Spaulding ave., Chicago.

The bride wore a ballerina length gown of nylon tulle over taffeta fashioned with a front inset of accordion pleated nylon tulle. The gown was also fashioned with an imported chantilly lace redingote featuring a high neckline and long sleeves and buttoning to the waist. Her fingertip length veil was held in place by a small cap, and she carried a crescent bouquet of snow drift pompons, lilies of the valley and ivy.

Mrs. Elmer W. Wille of Irving Park was the matron of honor. She wore an ice blue satin ballerina length gown and carried a crescent bouquet of deep pink roses.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue nylon taffeta dress, and the groom's mother wore a blue-gray crepe dress.

Elmer W. Wille was the best man. Orville Schaeffer of Arlington Heights and Paul Holmen of Chicago were the ushers.

Rev. J. E. A. Mueller officiated at the ceremony held November 28 at St. Paul Lutheran church at 7 p.m. Mrs. Donald Freitag sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because" accompanied at the organ by Elmer R. Jackisch.

A reception for 200 guests was held at the VFW clubhouse in Mount Prospect.

The couple honeymooned in Kentucky and Tennessee and are now making their home at 4032 W. Irving Park blvd.

Presenting The Younger Generation

Little Pavlova

A young ballet enthusiast who enjoys attending dancing school is Roberta Lee Graham, pictured first. This 2½-year-old has auburn hair and blue-grey eyes. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Graham, 233 S. Hale, Palatine.

Roberta also likes to play notes on the piano and to color. She has fun riding her tricycle and loves to have tea parties with her friends.

This little lass has a one-year-old brother, and she also has an unusual pet—a goose named Goofy. Roberta attends Sunday school at the Evangelical Reformed church in Palatine.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Graham of New York City are Roberta's grandparents.

Young Cowboy

Playing cowboys is one of the favorite activities of Dennis Taggart, pictured next. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Taggart, 840 S. Beverly lane, Arlington Heights.

Dennis is 4 years old, has blond hair and blue eyes. He is a husky boy, and very active This young lad enjoys playing with his toy cars and other mechanical toys. And he adores his two big brothers, Ronald, 19, and Robert, 12.

Dennis attends Sunday school at the South church, Community Baptist, Mount Prospect. His grandmother is Mrs. Justine Taggart of Menominee, Mich.

Bicycle Rider

Pictured next is Mary Ann Hartman, who at 4 years old, has mastered the technique of riding a two-wheel bicycle without balance wheels. She has a pet dog named Pepper who tags along right after her while she's riding.

This little lass has light brown hair and hazel eyes. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Hartman, 344 S. Beverly lane, Arlington Heights.

Mary Ann is an active young lady who likes to dance, and loves to tag after her older brothers, Craig, 11, and Keith, 9. She enjoys watching Ding Dong school on TV and has fun playing with her dolls. She attends nursery school in Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Fay Hartman of Glenview and Mrs. Vera Zirnite of Evanston and Mary Ann's grandmothers.

Train Enthusiast

Young Kenneth Machacek, pictured last, loves trains, both toy and real. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. K. F. Machacek, 353 Newberry, Arlington Heights.

Light brown hair and blue eyes describe Kenneth's coloring. He will be 4 years old December 30.

Kenneth likes to read books, and he enjoys playing with mechanical toys and riding his tricycle outdoors.

His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Machacek of Cicero and Mrs. Caroline Miller, who lives with the Machacek family in Arlington Heights.

Feehanville School

Mrs. Rita Badalamenti — VA 4-2291

The special meeting of the executives of the PTA, which was held on December 1 at Feehanville, was called in order to discuss the school play for Christmas. Appropriate costuming of the children in the cast seems to be the main issue right now. As a matter of fact, Mrs. E. Sullivan confided in me that the committee are seeking either a white silk or satin piece of material for the lower part of one costume in particular. It doesn't have to be new, in fact, a slip or nightgown can be easily put to use if permission is given to cut up the piece of goods. I promised I would try to be of some assistance in locating this garment, so if anyone can help us in any way, don't fail to call Mrs. Sullivan or myself or any member of the committee.

The Christmas party will probably be given on the last Friday before the Christmas holiday vacation from school. In referring to the PTA calendar year book, I find the program scheduled for December 18 at 7:30 in the evening will be a pantomime by the school children called "When The Chimes Rang."

Mrs. Shauer, who assists Mrs. Kleeman during the week, in the school lunchroom, was unable to work for a few days last week due to a sudden illness she contracted over the week end. Mrs. Alexander, who generally substitutes for her on Wednesdays, was kind enough to fill in for Mrs. Shauer during her absence.

Prospect Heights PTA gave their annual bazaar last Friday and Saturday, and our sixth, seventh and eighth grade students who attend Prospect Heights didn't have to do much coaxing when it came to getting their parents to attend the bazaar. Most of the parents had already put in orders for gifts and cards, as they remembered last year's successful venture and anticipated the same thing again this year.

Forest River church members are quite busy preparing for their Christmas party program. Almost everyone will take part in the affair, which is to be given December 20 at 10:30 in the morning at the church. There will be various recitations, musical numbers, and also a play. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bischof will be the father and mother of the play titled, "Her White Gift Christmas" and Bonnie Levine, Larry Bischof and Mrs. Lola Roos, playing an eighteen-year-old daughter, are their children. The church is also starting a food collection drive right now to help orphanages. The food items, they specify, should be canned rather than perishable or damageable during the collection, and later, the transportation. I think everyone will be more than happy to donate a few items to such a wonderful cause. Just send them any night the groups meet at the church for the Brigade, Stockade, Pilgrim or pioneer. The boys are already working on the toy repairing and repainting to present Christmas presents to needy youngsters.

A long-time resident of Forest River; now residing in Des Plaines, Mrs. Phyllis De Rushia, formerly Mrs. Howard Mason, had a baby boy at the St. Francis hospital, in Evanston on December 3. Many of her old friends will be happy to hear about it.

Thanks to all the people who cooperated in any way at all for the wonderful success of the games party December 4. It is very difficult to put into words, or name any special person or place of business for any specific recommendation, but everybody gave generously and worked hard towards its more than rewarding success. A marvelous feeling of the goodness of people seemed to pervade the atmosphere of the gathering; consequently we enjoyed ourselves, as old friends usually do, when they gather together. A sizeable sum was realized from the party to give the children in Forest River a wonderful Christmas party to remember and look back on in years to come.

And now I leave you with a simple quotation—"It isn't bad now and then to stumble, if it helps one to become a little humble." And believe me, Arthur Godfrey didn't say that. Bye now.

Rolling Meadows

By Pat Katkus

A hearty "Welcome" to all Rolling Meadows purchasers from Paddock Publications. This reporter will be seeing you personally soon but, this week I visited:

Mr. and Mrs. C. Bremer, Wilke rd., and their only child, 17 months old, Charles, Jr. They moved here the 13th of November. Mrs. Bremer says that even before moving she shopped in Arlington Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Elderkin, Wilke rd., have no children of their own, but would love to help the PTA or the Boy Scouts if the organizations have places for them. Personally, I know the Boy Scouts will welcome the offer. Mrs. Elderkin who has been working in Arlington Hts. for 8 months has been commuting from Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Spichal, Wilke rd., said that they reallly enjoy shopping in Arlington Heights. They said that at first they were "floored" by the polite and friendly sales personnel. Both are employed in Morton Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Reiber and 5 year old Diane had a surprise Saturday night. It seems that Mr. Reiber's family had a surprise house warming for Mrs. Reiber. Mr. Reiber was in on the surprise but kept it a big secret until Saturday night.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wachholz who celebrated their 49th wedding anniversary December 3. Mr. and Mrs. Wachholz have four married children, one of whom lives next door with his family. They also have a pet dog, with an extremely pug nose, whose name is Kimball Hill.

If anyone has any news, call the Rolling Meadows reporter at Paddock Publications, Inc.

Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. E. Moeller, 604 Bunting lane, celebrated Thanksgiving and their son Richard's birthday by entertaining 13 dinner guests. Among those present were grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Moeller, and son of Addison, Mr. and Mrs. Leseberg of Palatine and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Rateike of Itasca.

Richard also entertained 11 guests at a children's party Friday. Among those present were: Christine and Gregory Wehrheim, Bobby Orlowski, Paul Leonhardt, Susan Bennett, Debbie Suchy, Janice Jenkins, Mark Pelletier, Janice LaForge, Bruce Blim and Ellen Edwards.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cluts and children were dinner guests.

Candice Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jenkins, celebrated her first birthday with her four sisters and parents in a family party.

Charles Mutchler of Buchannan, Mich., has been visiting with his niece and nephew, the Paul Harrises the past few weeks. Thanksgiving day he left for Tampa, Fla., by plane.

Santa Claus is coming to Prospect Meadows. The Women's Auxiliary has arranged to have Santa Claus visit Prospect Meadows December 23 between 6 and 9 p.m. Block captains will distribute appointment cards for parents to sign. For more information, contact the block captain or Edith Schroeder, chairman, Loraine Geraci, Eileen McNaughton or Marilyn Peregrine.

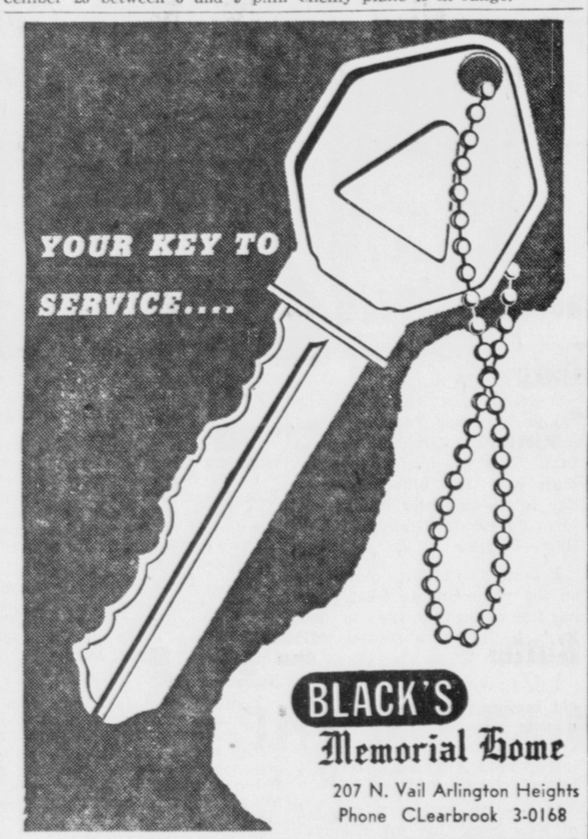

The Harrises then were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Short of Oak Park.

Celebrate Birthday

Marcy Vosburgh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Vosburgh, 601 Larkdale lane, celebrated her second birthday Saturday with a party. Those present were: Carol Waldron, Linda Sell, Allen Schmidt, Bonnie and Linda Morales. The little children's mothers also enjoyed the party doings. Sunday Marcy celebrated with a family party. Her grandparents, aunts, and uncles were guests at her home to help her celebrate her second birthday.

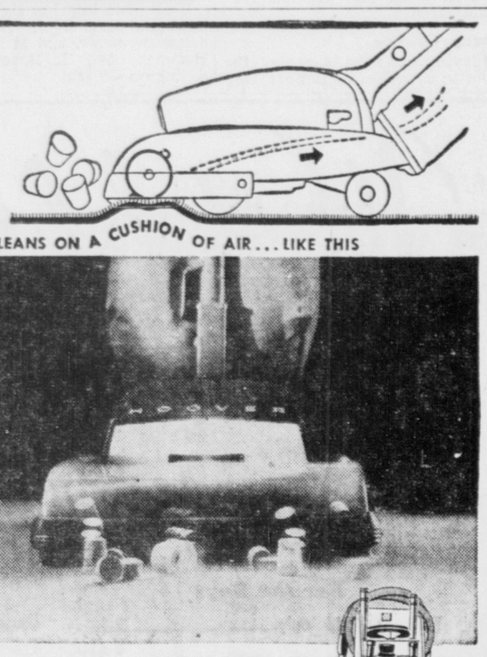

Flying Radar Stations

The flying radar station in one late-model all-weather jet fighter has 495 tubes and 6,400 coils, condensors and resistors. It enables the pilot to locate enemy aircraft in the dead of night, following which an electronic finger pulls the trigger and fires rockets automatically when the enemy plane is in range.

Hold Last Communion Service In Old Church

A significant day in the life of The First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights was last Sunday. Since it is hoped that the new sanctuary will be completed before the next service of holy communion will be observed, it is thought that the observance of the sacrament last Sunday was the last for the entire church in the present sanctuary, which was built in 1911.

This entire room, built for an audience of some 150, had to be reserved for the class of new members who were received, numbering 133. Among the new members was Miss Harriet Sawyer, whose grandparents became members of this church in 1860.

Miss Sawyer's grandparents came from Vermont in 1836 and settled on land in Plum Grove. Her father, Edmund M. Sawyer, was born in Palatine township in 1840, and she was born on a farm in Plum Grove in 1866. She was baptized in the Arlington Heights church and her niece, Mrs. Ronald Ehrke, 1106 N. Patton ave., is also a member of the church. This means there are four generations of the Sawyer family who have been or are members of the Arlington Heights Presbyterian church.

Circulating Petitions For Hunting Law to Protect Rural Residents

Residents, especially those residing in rural subdivision, are being given an opportunity to sign a petition that asks the restriction of the use of firearms within 600 feet of any residence or farm building.

The petitions, to be signed in triplicate, will be sent to Governor William Stratton, Senator Arthur Bidwill and to Sheriff John Babb, with the hope they will do everything in their power to amend or expand the present state game and fish laws to afford such protection.

During the recent hunting season, as in past years, the lives of many persons have been endangered by careless hunters, who insist on hunting on vacant property, regardless of how close they are to residential areas. With an amendment, such as the one suggested here, it is felt these people will be adequately protected in the future, or, at least, they will have a law to confront the hunters with.

Anyone desiring to sign a petition, or caring to circulate a petition in his area is urged to call Palatine 1530, or the office of Paddock Publications for further information.

Harold G. Van Tassel Admitted to Illinois State Bar Association

Harold G. Van Tassel of 239 S. Hale, Palatine, was admitted to the Illinois State Bar Association November 19, at Springfield. Present for the occasion was his twin brother, Edward, who is a New Jersey lawyer.

At present Van Tassel is an assistant district traffic supervisor for Illinois Bell Telephone company. He attended Manhatten college and graduated from Notre Dame Law school in 1951. Prior to coming to Illinois last March he was a practicing attorney in New Jersey.

Van Tassel is married and he and his wife have a son, Steven.

New Wayside Catholic Church To Open For Christmas Eve Mass

The first service to be held in the new Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic church, now under construction on S. Mitchell, Arlington Heights, will be the midnight mass Christmas eve.

Rev. Harold T. O'Hara, priest in charge, said that the church will not be completely finished, but it will have heat and the main altar will be installed. Folding chairs will probably be used to accommodate the parishoners, which number 500 families.

Regular Sunday masses will be held in the new church following Christmas. The new building, which will also house a new school, is expected to be completed in time for the opening of school next fall.

Christmas Tales To Highlight Arlington Library Story Hour

All children in the first through third grades in Arlington Heights are invited to participate in the story hour at the library each Saturday from 10 until 10:45 a. m.

Christmas stories, old and new, will be featured at the December 12, 19 and 26 sessions. The story hour is in charge of the senior Girl Scouts.

Scouts to Collect Paper On South Side Saturday

The Boy Scouts of Arlington Heights will make their next pick up of scrap paper in the area south of Northwest highway this Saturday morning.

Cub Scouts will ring door bells during the next few days to remind residents of the drive and to ask them to be sure and tie their bundles securely. All papers should be on the curb no later than 9 a. m. Saturday. There will be a pick up rain or shine.

The loading area will be at the South school and anyone late in getting his paper out may bring it directly to the school grounds before noon. Those living outside of the village are also invited to bring their paper to the school Saturday morning as are northsiders who have paper to turn over to the scouts at this time.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

That we can with confidence trust God to meet our every need, satisfy every longing, and establish complete harmony, will be explained in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 13. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be GOD THE PRESERVER OF MAN.

The Golden Text is from Psalms (40:11) "Withhold not thou thy tender mercies from me, O Lord: let thy lovingkindness and thy truth continually preserve me."

Lesson-Sermon passages from the Bible (King James Version) include:

"The Lord hath appeared of old unto me, saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love: therefore with loving-kindness have I drawn thee . . . For the lord hath redeemed Jacob, and ransomed him from the hand of him that was stronger than he" (Jer. 31: 3,11).

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include:

"The history of Christianity furnishes sublime proofs of the supporting influence and protecting power bestowed on man by his heavenly Father, omnipotent Mind, who gives man faith and understanding whereby to defend himself, not only from temptation, but from bodily suffering" (p. 387).

New Brand of Shoplifting

Nelson F. Hauff, secretary of Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce passes on to businessmen the following release which tells of a new racket that has victimized merchants in a neighboring town.

"The Better Business Bureau of another city reports the following trick worked on one of its merchants. A woman or man walks into a store, waits until he or she is not being observed, then picks up an article of some kind, and puts it on the counter. When a clerk approaches, he or she says, 'I'm sorry I won't be able to use this, it isn't what I wanted,' and asks for a refund. The merchant demands the sales ticket and when the customer is unable to produce it, he or she is refused the refund.

"The would be customer gets mad and picks up the merchandise and walks out. This is another way of shoplifting. Be on guard so it does not happen to you."

Girl Scout News

Brownie troop 23, Arlington Heights, entertained the residents of the Lutheran Old People's Home with songs and games and a Brownie play December 7. Every girl in the troop was there. After the program, the girls had refreshments at Debbie Holloway's house.

During September and October, troop 23 collected 354 pocket-size books and magazines for patients at the County hospital. For their Christmas service project, the girls have made stuffed animals for the American Friends Service committee to distribute to needy children.

The leaders of troop 23 are Mrs. Charles F. Tully and Mrs. Charles H. Baker.

Woman Injured In Two Car Collision

Mrs. Roy Spieker, 1109 N. Mitchell, Arlington Heights, was injured December 3 when her auto collided with another being driven by Don Cameron of Schoenbeck rd., Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Spieker was taken to St. Joseph hospital, Elgin, where she was treated for a scalp wound and ankle injury.

Cameron was traveling west on Elm st. and was crossing the intersection of Highland ave. when he collided with Mrs. Spieker's auto, which was going north on Highland. Skid marks made by Cameron's auto were 79 feet long. Police estimated he was traveling about 32 miles an hour. There is a posted speed zone of 20 miles an hour in the area.

Judge William Neumann fined Cameron $16, plus $4 court costs, for speeding.

The Cameron auto was a complete wreck and the Spieker auto was damaged on the right front fender, hood, radiator, left front end, right door and windshield.

High winds December 4 caused several freak accidents in the village. It tore the Shelkop TV sign loose from its mountings and the police and fire department were called on to stand by until the sign was repaired. A Public Service pole on S. Evergreen and Dunton, was uprooted in the wind sstorm, and two plate glass windows at George C. Poole's garage were broken. One of the windows in the showroom was completely blown in, but fortunately did no damage to the autos on display. The other window damaged was in the stock room.

The fire department answered a call at Arlington Airport December 4, where they extinguished a fire in the basement of the barracks.

Thieves broke into a tool shed located at Clarendon and Beverley, which belongs to the Johnson Electric company of Des Plaines. Electrical material was stored in the shed and the company will notify the police as to just what items were taken.

Legion Sponsors 'Gifts For Yanks' Program

To provide Christmas presents for disabled veterans and hospitalized servicemen, Arlington Heights American Legion post is participating in the tenth annual "Christmas Gifts to Yanks Who Gave" program of the Illinois American Legion.

The object of the drive is to insure at least one gift for each of the more than 15,000 patients in 44 Illinois hospitals and institutions. Many are veterans of the Korean war. A total of more than $40,000 was spent for gifts alone by the Illinois Legion last year and $20,000 by posts and units who delivered gifts direct to hospitals.

All funds donated to the "Yanks Who Gave" are used for the purchase of gifts only. The entire administrative cost of the program is borne by the American Legion from general funds.

For gift donations the Legion asks that they contain the donor's name and address for later acknowledgment and be plainly marked male or female. Not acceptable are razor blades, candy, food, knives, matches or second hand articles of any description. Gift packages may be delivered to the Legion home, 122 N. Douglas, any Thursday evening.

Merle Guild Post 208 has placed containers for cash contributions in many Arlington Heights business houses. Checks payable to the American Legion, department of Illinois, marked "Gifts to Yanks," may be sent to Dr. R. H. Balfour, 6 W. Campbell.

Kiwanis to Install New Officers at Dinner Meeting Thursday Night

New officers of the Arlington-Prospect Kiwanis club will be installed Thursday at a Ladies Night dinner meeting to be held at Simson's Restaurant, Rand rd. and Euclid ave.

Five new club members will also be officially installed at this meeting. Dancing and entertainment will follow the installation.

At a regular board of directors meeting December 4, a delegate was appointed to attend the meeting of village citizens and businessmen concerning the one-way streets, which was held Tuesday night.

Arlington Woman Injured In 3-Car Accident

Two persons were injured in a three-car collision in Mt. Prospect Saturday at 5:38 p. m.

Mrs. Beulah Harmon, 502 N. State rd., Arlington Heights, attempting to make a left turn off Northwest hwy. into the Cities Service station at Fairview ave., was sideswiped by Luther Patterson, Park Ridge, who was attempting to pass Mrs. Harmon.

The force of the impact threw Patterson's car over into the outer westbound traffic lane, and into the car driven by Dr. Harold Pomainville, Wisconsin Rapids, Wis.

Injured were Mrs. Berenice Pomainville and Patterson, both of whom were taken to St. Francis hospital in ambulances but later released.

The accident occurred just at the point where the state has erected village limit speed signs, although the actual village limits are a half mile west.

Police Chief George Whittenberg said Mrs. Harmon admitted she had not put out her hand to signal a left turn.

Two other near accidents occurred at the recently improved Central rd. railroad crosssing, when drivers failed to realize although the crossing itself is widened the approaches are still narrow, and a sharp turn is necesssary.

In the first instance, police had time to stop approaching trains until the car could be removed from the tracks. When a second car drove onto the tracks about an hour later, fast work was required to remove the auto before an approaching westbound train reached the crossing.

New Fiction:

"A Handful of Blackberries" by Ignazio Silone. A drama of a love affair and a life-and-death adventure in the hills of Southern Italy. "Marie of the Isles" by Robert Gaillard. A fast-moving, gripping historical novel set in the 17th century; a tale of immense power and impact.

"The House That Nino Built" by Giovanni Guareschi. In his gayest, funniest book yet, the creator turns a spotlight on his own irrepressible family. "The Only Sin" by Anne Powers. A powerful story of intrigue, adventure and love, set against the mystery and glamour of India a century and a half ago. "Mandrake Root" by Frederic Wakeman. A story which reaches the heart of many, many marriages; how two people tried to save their failure.

"THE LYING DAYS" by Nadine Gordimer. A novel encompassing drama, comedy, and a varied cast from many segments of the turbulent South African scene. "Intruder from the Sea" by Gordon McDonnell. A spy story. "Blind Journey" by Bruce Lancaster. The time is 1781. The setting: Paris, America and the high seas in between. Another historical novel, "Bridle the Wind," by Julia Davis. The author has created a stirring picture of the American past in her new and engrossing historical novel. "The Flower of May" by Kate O'Brien. A distinguished novel, and a most unusual one.

MYSTERIES: "Christmas at Candleshoe" by Michael Innis; "Uninvited Guest" by Geo. Coxe; "Vanishing Point" by Patricia Wentworth; "Prescription: "Murder" by Doris Disney. "Spinsters in Jeopardy," "Shepherd's Crook" and "The Listener" all Crime Club selections.

Science Fiction: "The Star Seekers" by Milton Lesser; "Missing Men of Saturn" by Philip Latham; "Second Foundation" by Isaac Asimov; "World Out of Mind" by J. T. M'Intosh. "Your Trip Into Space," "Danger: Dinosaurs!" "Attack from Atlantis," "Planet of Light."

Juvenile: "The Mystery of the Old House," "Escape by Night," "Birds and Planes: How They Fly," "Washington: the Story of Our Capital," "Circus April 1st," "The Friendly Phoebe," "The Borrowed Monkey," "Ning's Pony," "Jaglon and the Tiger Fairies," "Young Cowboys at the Broken Arrow," "Owen of the Bluebird," "Miss Pickerell Goes Undersea," "The Wishing Apple Tree," "The Story Hour," 'Book of Horses and their Pictures," "Let's Explore the Great Lakes," "Tim Trains His Terriers," "A Holiday Story Sampler," "Lizzie," "S-O-S Helicopter," "High in the Mountains,"

The annual meeting of the Northwest Suburban Council of the Boy Scouts of America will be held tentatively January 19, according to Stanley Huntington. Details of this meeting will be announced soon.

Executive Board Meets Monday

The executive board of the Northwest Suburban Council will be held December 14. Included in this meeting will be the final report of this committee and its Christmas party.

Please!

Stan Huntington, Scout Executive of the Northwest Suburban Council, urges every scout unit to partake in some unit good turn to help the needy. Perhaps a call to Stan could produce some good ideas. The phone number of the scout office is Talcott 3-4191.

Post 707 Holds Lost Weekend

With Tom Collins, leader of the post for this event, setting the pace, Post 707 had a remarkably strange overnight camping trip at Camp Dan Beard last week end. All attending the event enjoyed the show put on by the Stein Brothers and Associates. Tom Collins, being an Englishman, led the fellows in a game of cricket, which was followed by a game of football. In the evening, a game of "can you take it?" was played.

Invite Children To Christmas Play Sunday

Children of Arlington Heights are invited to attend the performance of "Amahl and the Night Visitors," as guests of the Village Theatre, Sunday at 3:30 p. m., at the Methodist church. No admission will be charged.

The play, under the direction of Mrs. G. E. Staahl, was written by Mrs. Robert Hawley from the story of the opera by Gian Carlo-Menotti. This is a Talent Bank production and will last approximately one-half hour. Though brief, it has a wonderful message to tell, and the Village Theatre felt its presentation would be a nice Christmas gift to the children of Arlington Heights. Seats are limited and they will be filled on a first come, first served basis.

Members of the cast are: Amahl, Ricky Hawley; Mother, Anne Nygren; Three Kings-Melchoir, Don Nygren, Balthazer, Joe Crittenden, and Kaspar, Dave Meineke; Page, Jim Solon; Shepherds, Connie Beckway, Grace Beckway, Greg Beckway, Sherry Crittenden, Roberta Hawley, Bruce Nygren, Lynn Shaughnessy and David Shaughnessy.

Dancers from the Delores Eiler School of Dancing will do the dance number. They are: Wanda Eakins, Judy Bown, Juanita Graves and Brenda Rudolph.

this Christmas . . . give her a useful gift

NECCHI or ELNA . . .
the world's most advanced sewing machines!

NECCHI, world's most advanced cabinet machine

ELNA, world's most advanced portable

A "Magic Disc" sewing machine will not only make the ideal Christmas gift for the woman in your life — but, with it, she'll be able to turn out the the most wonderful gifts for others . . . beautifully decorated handbags, luncheon sets, children's clothes, slips, blouses.

Best of all, she doesn't have to be experienced. She just picks a stitch, slips in a magic disc — and the machine does the rest.

Completely automatically it turns out scores of intricate designs. Without attachments it sews on buttons, makes buttonholes, darns and mends . . . monograms and appliques . . . sews zig-zag and straight, forward and reverse. With one of these machines she can clothe herself and your family — and save the cost of the machine in no time at all.

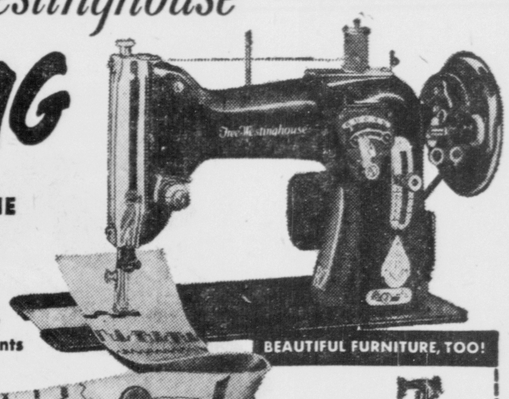

These and other exquisite items can be produced as simply as sewing on ordinary seam

SHOPPING with SHARON

Correction: Last week we inferred that the Village Store would be closed during the dinner hour preceding the holidays. The store actually will be open daily from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. and Sundays from 2 to 5:30 p. m.

Santas with extra long gift lists will save time and steps by shopping at the Village Store, E. Northwest hwy., for every name on their list. All under one roof you'll find the perfect gift solution to every gift problem . . . easily, quickly and happily. There are gifts for the home ranging from glassware, pottery, including African violet planters, herbs and craft sets including Tole Ware. In this Tole Ware Set you paint by numbers on baskets, trays and magazine racks featuring a black background.

For people of all ages there are oil painting sets which feature the paint by number technique. Then you'll also find appropriate frames for these canvases. In the same vein there are models of antique guns which one can set up himself and tile painting sets.

For little girls there are dolls that will make her Christmas dreams come true. There's Virga dolls, the Saucy Walker, Toni dolls and the Sunbabe-Babee doll that drinks, wets, creeps and sleeps complete with clothing layette and carrying case . . . available in two sizes, this doll is priced at $9.98 and $7.95.

For both boys and girls there are craft sets and games of all varieties. For instance there is the House of Cards, just made to build with, a new 3-D construction toy for every child . . . a complete stamp outfit for the beginner. Especially for boys are the cars and trucks and construction kits of all kinds from helicopters to cars.

How about that gift list? Is every name checked off . . . or are there still quite a few "problem" presents to be attended to? Why not stop at Aunt Pansy's, the House with the Red Door, 115 N. Dunton ave. Here there are countless items that would make lovely gifts.

There are Christmas mobiles priced at $1 that can be put together by children. In the line of table decorations there are Swedish imports . . . single red and white candle holders, candelabra, and decorative figurines. These and many other items will be found at Aunt Pansy's.

Perhaps now that you've almost completed your buying, you have found that you could have bought your youngster that bike or train he's been asking Santa for. It's not too late, for Winkelman's Tire and Battery Shop, 115 E. Davis, will be glad to help you select from a variety of Schwinn bicycles or American Flyer trains available with all accesssories. You can make your selection and take it right with you. Wink's also have trucks, wagons, sleds, scooters, rocking horses, doll carriages, etc.

The shop at Winkelman's has specially trained men to give expert service on tune-up and radiator work. So have your car checked now and avoid trouble during the busy holiday season.

Something from the jeweler is always something special and at Flaherty Jewelers, 2 N. Dunton, you'll discover that there are so many lovely things to choose from that one of the easiest ways to make a selection is to decide just what you want to spend, for there are gifts to fit every pocket.

For her you can select from costume jewelry rhinestone set by Trifari or matching bracelets, earrings and necklaces. Then there's an exquisite mother of pearl jewel studded Elgin-American compact or jewel boxes by Mele.

For him Flaherty's have Remington, Schick and Sunbeam electric shavers and they will allow you a substantial trade-in on your old shaver. Ronson lighters, priced from $5.50, are always appreciated gifts. Flaherty's also feature men's jewelry . . . cuff links and tie bars by Krementz and Swank. Another gift suggestion are the Prince and Princess Gardner billfolds.

An ideal gift for teen-agers are identification bracelets. Especially new and popular are the photo-idents, which hold one or four pictures.

Toys to play with . . . toys to work with . . . toys to learn with . . . these are all available now at Sauerland Flower and Hobby Shop, 417 S. State rd. They have a complete line of toys and hobbies for young and old alike. For instance there are miniature drill kits complete with bits and sanding and polishing materials, Doll E Nurse sets complete with 21 feeding pieces, space toys, mechanical trains, miniature card tables and chairs, musical toys, games and crafts. Mr. Sauerland can also get one day service on all orders for American Flyer trains and accessories.

In the line of decorations for your home during the holiday season, Sauerland's have many styro foam centerpieces all made up and there's one especially for your home. They are priced from $2 to $3. They also have Swedish Klockspels in polished brass.

I bet your mother would like one of the new group of Bates broadcloth or woven gingham afternoon dresses now being featured at Pearce's, corner of Bothwell and Chicago aves. in Palatine. Priced at $5.95 and $8.95 in regular and half sizes, you could even get her two for Christmas . . . and she'll appreciate them every day of the year, for she needs a dress of type every day. Other house dresses are priced at $2.95 and $3.95.

Also perfect for Christmas giving are the pastel wool skirts in beautiful shades of blue and beige. Perfect accompaniments for these skirts are the dressy or sport blouses in cotton, nylon and jersey at Pearce's.

A Christmas gift for your home is one that will last an be enjoyed throughout the years so why not stop at Arlington Furniture Mart, 211 S. State rd., today and pick out that lamp or other piece you've been wanting all year. The store has modern, early American and period lamps that will lend beauty to any home. A holiday feature at Arlington Furniture Mart are the dinette sets made by nationally advertised manufacturers, such as, Daystrom, Douglas, Howell and Arvin. They are available in black iron, chrome and wood and have mica tops.

Every nook and corner of the Toy Circus at Hagenbring's is brimming over with toys that would delight any youngster.

For young boys and girls there are soft, huggable plush toys made by Steiff and Gund. There are pandas, bears, dogs, kittens, monkeys, tigers and many more, all of which will be the prized possessions of those of nursery school age. Mother will also love them, for those that don't make any noise can be thrown in the washing machine and spun dry. Those that "speak" should be brush washed.

And don't forget about the dolls at the Toy Circus. There are more than 200 styles to choose from.

Santa Claus will reign at Hagenbring's daily until December 23 from 2 to 5 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m.

Now's the time when it gets a little difficult to think of something different or a bit unusual to select for a gift. The Bounty Fair on Northwest hwy. in Palatine has received several new items which I think are really novel gifts. In fact you might want to keep the first one for yourself . . . it's an inexpensive conversation piece featured recently in the "What's New For You" column of a Chicago newspaper, a snake charmer. The turban, eyes and nose are white and the horn, gold. It's only 4' high, and the wrought iron snake appears to be coming from the bowl. $2 at the Bounty Fair.

For meticulous hosts and hostesses there are pure linen cocktail apron and towel sets in several different designs. The same artist, Georges Briard, has designed glasses, trays, cocktail napkins, cocktail shakers and dishes . . . all are available at the Bounty Fair.

To Start Construction Of New Jewel In Crystal Lake

Plans for the largest food store in Crystal Lake have been completed and construction work on the building will start shortly after the first of the year, it was announced by Lester Gieseke, owner of the Williams st. property to be used. The building will be 80 x 145 and will be located on the north side of the Lake theatre using the 66 feet lot vacated by removal of the Jackman house and 14 feet of the Phil Hull lot used as a parking lot and also purchased by Mr. Gieseke. The building will be constructed and occupied by the Jewel Food store, now located on Brink st.

Greater Economy—

$60,000. However, the present $520,000 budget was $150,000 higher than a year ago. We cannot keep this spending at its present pace. I am not in favor of cutting down on the services expected in a growing village like Arlington Heights, but I am going to ask every committee chairman to watch the dollars they spend."

It has been the practice of Arlington Heights to make its budgets large enough to cover any emergency. The total expenditures of the year have never exceeded the total budget, but on the other hand, that budget has always totaled more than the probable expenses.

In turning the report over to Paddock Publications, the Alderman said, "I am not suggesting that anybody should start worrying about the financial condition of the village today, but I think there will be cause for worries in coming months unless we draw our purse strings tighter. Our school expansion is going to require a lot of tax money and it behooves every other taxing body to keep its tax levies as low as possible."

Plan commission has spent $1,913.72 out of a $2,000 budget; the zoning board $1,491 out of a $1,500 budget; zoning board of appeals, $385 out of a budget of $400; legal department, $5,929.30 out of $7,800. In a half million dollar budget these amounts can be considered chicken feed, and the money was rightfully spent, but those expenditures are an example of rising costs in our growing city.

The unavoidable costs represented by the pension fund, bonds and interest require in the neighborhood of $30,000 a year.

A check of the regular corporate funds reveals that they are all in what might be called a safe condition and it is to the chairmen of these committees that Mr. Rehfeldt is asking to go slow. In his own words, he says, "If we are going to keep faith with the voters who elected us, we must watch their tax dollars. The money you save in the next five months will be badly needed, we cannot afford to go 'hog wild.' "

Notice of Public Hearing

Holds Safety Drive

Merle Guild Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary of Arlington Heights will sponsor a safety drive in Arlington Heights beginning December 9 and ending January 1, 1954.

Miss Vae Holtz, community service chairman of the Auxiliary, is chairman of the drive.

The license numbers of courteous drivers will be published in forthcoming editions. The Legion feels that with the increase in population has come an increase in discourteous driving.

More details will appear in next week's edition.

Restaurant Gains Fame, Feature Its Food On TV

More than 100 guests from Danny O'Neil's television show were treated to pizza from Fadaro's Restaurant, 16 W. Northwest hwy., Mount Prospect, December 1.

Both partners, Sam Faraone of Mount Prospect and John Cordaro of Arlington Heights, were introduced to the TV audience.

To add further distinction to the restaurant Jack Ryan included it in his TV review December 3.

Morton Grove Man Buried Alive, Dies

A 56 year old man has died after being buried when a sewer trench collapsed.

Otto Pomplun of 9118 Waukegan rd., in Morton Grove was helping to dig a new sewer on Church street at Harlem avenue in Morton Grove. The wet earth collapsed covering the elderly plumbing tradesman. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Swedish Covenant hospital.

Coach Has Two Barefoot Kickers

Coach Mance Park of Huntsville high school, who thinks a boy can kick a football farther and more accurately barefooted than with shoes, not only has a baretoed booter deluxe this season, but the kicker has an understudy who's just as good.

Huntsville has won nine games, scoring 451 points to the opposition's 84. Coleman has kicked 44 extra points in 48 attempts—an average of better than 91 per cent. Last week against Madisonville, Coleman made 12 extra points in 12 tries as Huntsville won, 84-19.

Next year, with Coleman graduated, Park will be looking to Tommy Reeves for barefooted bullseye kicking. Tommy hasn't seen much action this season because of an injury, but his record is 100 per cent—three out of three.

Cost Of Peace

Total cost after five years of blueprints of the United Nations headquarters in New York is $67,500,000, with all but two million supplied through a loan from the U.S. payable by 1982.

STATE CHAMP LAGRANGE AT ARLINGTON FRIDAY NIGHT

MAC SAYS

BY G. A. McELROY

SHALL THE STATE TOURNAMENT be reduced to a four team affair at Champaign with earlier rounds played in four different sections of the state? Those who argue for this plan cite the success of the Indiana state setup.

They also argue that more fans and students could see the preliminary rounds of state tournament play, that teams and fans could have short distances to travel, eliminating housing problems, and that there would be much less disruption in school work.

In contrast, the traditions of the "Sweet Sixteen" basketball extravaganza at the University of Illinois are looked upon as the once in a lifetime hope of small schools. Actually, the small schools who never go to the state tourney are strongest backers of retaining the 16 team finals at Champaign.

THE FOUR TEAM FINAL was tried in 1941 and discarded the next year by a vote of the membership of the state association. A poll was taken two years ago with a similar result, though backing for the four team final had gained ground. There is so much sentiment in the suburban area for a decentralization of the tournament into a four team final that Al Willis, executive secretary of the Illinois high school association, called three meetings of principals last week at Salem, Lincoln, and Rochelle to discuss the question.

Unofficially, the vote at Salem was over 40 to 0 in opposition to a four team final.

At Lincoln the central Illinois principals were about evenly divided. At Rochelle the north part of the state gave evidence of favoring the four team plan by a margin of more than seven to one.

THE STATE BOARD OF CONTROL will consider the arguments presented at these meetings and may possibly poll the principals again. However, anything that is done will not affect this year's tournament plan. A suggestion has been made that four team preliminary tournaments be held at Northwestern university where 10,000 can be seated, at Bradley 9,000, and Southern Illinois University 6,000, and the University of Illinois 6,800.

There are many principals, of whom the writer is one, who would favor using the largest high school gyms in each of the four sections of the state and having the tournament run with one game to each session.

School atmosphere and management is less likely to have the problems that principals complain about in connection with the tournament at the University of Illinois. All the tournaments up to the final four team affair could be held in gyms seating well over 4,000 spectators.

THERE SEEMS LITTLE CHANCE the state tournament plan will be changed. At Rochelle, one principal got up and stated the conference of which his school was a member, voted unanimously for retention of the 16 team final. The schools of the conference ranged from 25 to 75 enrollment.

These schools have the same voting power in the state association as the Suburban League with enrollments from 1,200 to 5,000 and the West Suburban ranging from 1,000 to 3,000.

Each of these suburban conferences voted unanimously in favor of decentralization to a four team tournament at Champaign. However, the majority of the schools of the state are the small ones.

WAUCONDA'S UPSET of Antioch last Friday appears to make the Northwest conference basketball race a toss up. Now this week we shall see what Ela-Vernon, another good team, can do against Antioch. If they beat or play the Sequoits a close game, then the Antioch team cannot be rated as an out and out favorite to retain their title. Saturday Antioch rebounded from their Wauconda defeat to drub Hebron.

Anyway you look at it the coaches' poll of who was strongest in basketball appears very accurate. They rated Antioch, Wauconda, Grant, and Ela-Vernon as the top four. They are the top four at this writing and appear to have the strength to stay in the first division.

PALATINE FINALLY WON A GAME in their new gym. After four double setbacks to varsity and frosh-sophs, the Pirate freshmen, rated as Palatine's poorest sports prospects in years, beat Arlington 26-21 last Saturday morning.

Paxton Lumkin, DuSable's all state star and ball handling genius, will be the big attraction when Palatine hosts the colored DuSable teams in a double bill Tuesday, December 22.

DuSable was a first round winner in the state tourney last year and has just about the same lineup with hopes of a return trip this season. Saturday, December 19, West High of Aurora will play at Palatine. After Christmas, all the Palatine home games are with Northwest conference opponents.

Sectional At Heights Regional At Palatine

Palatine has been awarded a regional tournament and Arlington Heights will again be host to the sectional. This is the news which came out from the office of Albert Willis, executive secretary of the Illinois high school association, last weekend.

Other regionals sending winners to the Arlington sectional besides the Palatine tournament will be the ones to be held at Crystal Lake, Waukegan, and Maine Township (Des Plaines).

Last season Arlington Heights handled both the regional and the sectional in their spacious gym which seats in excess of 4,500 persons. Arlington's efficient tournament management by LeRoy Knoeppel, superintendent, and Wally Grace, athletic director, won much deserved praise from all who competed there. The result is that Arlington keeps the big tournament whose winner goes to the "Sweet Sixteen."

PALATINE has a new gym which will seat in excess of 3,000 spectators if filled to capacity. Rollaways on the bleacher shelves were completed Tuesday of this week and the balcony section of the gym will now seat close to 2,000 persons. Knock down bleachers on the sides of the court on the main floor which will be put up for the tournament will easily handle another 1,000 persons.

Palatine has adequate dressing room facilities to take care of four teams at a time in different complete locker room areas.

It is quite an honor and responsibility for the local schools to be assigned tournaments when there are so many fine gyms in the area. Good community support and cooperation can help a lot in making the management of the tournament a success.

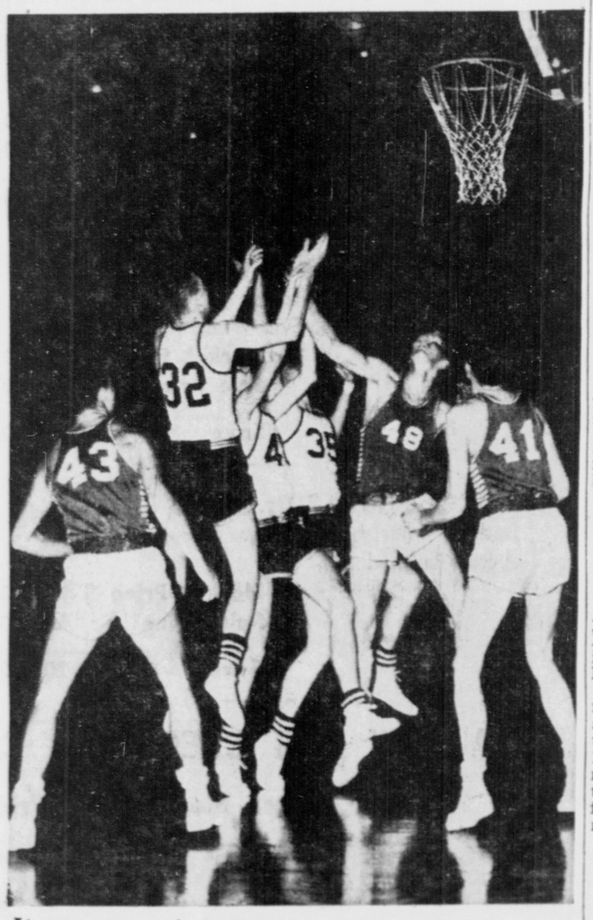

Regional tournaments are scheduled for March 2-5 and sectionals the following week March 10-12.

Card Grapplers Host To York

Arlington wrestlers will entertain York Thursday afternoon in the second match of the season, starting at 4 p. m. The same boys who opened against Riverside-Brookfield with a victory Tuesday will probably grapple for Coach Dick Mudge Thursday.

Two boys still out of competition, John Milnamow and Mike Deschner, are improving and will be available soon. Milnamow is working with weights and the whirlpool in his foot and ankle. Deschner is now taking exercises, but has done no grappling as yet.

York copped meets with Heights the past two years, 32-14 last year and 27-11 the season before. The Cardinals play host to Leyden Tuesday, December 15 in another afternoon affair next week.

It was anyone's ball in the Palatine-Ela-Vernon game Friday night which the Bears won, 57-47. Three Palatine boys up in the air are Ken Hahn (32), Dave Schutz (42) and Bill Breyer (35). For Ela are Don Fenner (43), Glen Chaffin (48) and George Severance (41).

Cards Travel To Leyden For Game Saturday

by BOB PADDOCK

Illinois state basketball champs from LaGrange will display their power Friday night in the 4,000 seat gym at Arlington Heights high school when the locals play host to the "towering ten" following the preliminary at 7:15 p. m.

That towering ten is led by two boys standing close to 6' 8", Ted Caiazza and Dave McKeag, with Russ Blake at 6' 6" ready to spell either of the other two.

In addition, new coach Les Glick stepped into a situation at LaGrange where he has the very able Joe Lawlor at 6', Willie Johnston at 6' 1" and the colorful Harold Caffey at 6'.

LA GRANGE is starting the season where they left off last season when they won 29 games in winning the state title. This year they've won four straight and, with Heights, led the West Suburban league in both divisions.

The loop leaders, by the way, are all the home teams in last week's openers in both varsity and frosh-soph divisions.

LaGrange plays a loose defense, giving opponents one shot, getting the rebound and then scoring as soon as possible. Whether Arlington can be accurate enough on their "one shots" remains to be seen.

AS COACH GLEEFUL of Podunk State Teachers once said, though, "they put 'em on, one at a time, same as you," and Heights players are determined to make a game of it with hopes of pulling an upset.

The frosh-soph encounter is a toss-up with Coach Maurice Klotz' boys even with LaGrange. The sophomores aren't as far along as they were at this time last season when they tied Downers Grove for the title, but could win Friday night.

SATURDAY NIGHT both Heights teams travel to Leyden. This year's game will be played in the gymnasium of Elm school on 76th ave., four blocks west of Harlem ave.

Leyden still has only "the cracker box" for a gym, though a new one is on the way, and is alternating home games in two grade school gyms.

Heights fans can reach the Elm school by driving south on route 45 to North ave., turning east to 76th ave., then turning north to the school four blocks north of North ave.

True Bear Fans

Among fans traveling to Detroit last weekend to see the Chicago Bears play were Larry Engelking and John Weisenbach of Arlington Heights.

Wayne Mueller, (51) went up for this one for Arlington against Downers Grove Friday night, with the visitors far in front. The Cardinals rallied in the last quarter, however, to win by one point. Standing by to help are Larry Slinkard (35) and Bob Turner (44). Ready to grab the rebound is Brotherton (34) of Downers.

Ela-Antioch Tilt Top Contest Of Northwest Loop

When Palatine tangles with Bensenville on the Bison court Friday night it will resume one of the most evenly matched series on basketball games in the area. The teams have not been so evenly matched as far as close games are concerned, but rather on a won and lost basis. Since the Northwest conference was reorganized in 1938 Bensenville has won 15 and Palatine 14.

The Pirates took both contests between the schools last season and two more this year would give them the lead.

On paper Pirates and Bisons are quite evenly matched. Both lost to Ela, the Bisons by seven points and the Pirates by 10. Palatine beat Grayslake by 10 and Bensenville lost to the Rams by four. A home court advantage goes to Bensenville.

BISON GUARDS Pedro Cuatrecasas and Kenneth Sirotzki are the big guns in their attack which turns into a long shooting game if they are stopped from driving in to the basket. Palatine does not seem to have any consistently heavy scorer this season such as a year ago when Paul Schrage dominted the point column.

Coach Moylan has a dozen boys of about squal ability. His problem to date is to find a combination which can play a consistent game.

Some of the juniors have been looking better than many of the seniors upon whom the coach had depended for the bulk of the playing. The fadeout against Ela-Vernon may result in a drastic shake-up of the starting lineup. Certainly the juniors Eck, Schutz, and Goetz are likely to see a lot of action with Nesset and Penning, also third year players, sure to get into the lineup. Just what five Coach Moylan will start against Bensenville will depend on this week's practice sessions.

Any way one figures, the Palatine at Bensenville clash stacks up as a toss up.

GAME OF THE WEEK in the Northwest conference is at Antioch where Coach Norman Ladd's Ela-Vernon Bears try to hang on to first place and push favored Antioch down the conference ladder.

Ela has the best material in several years and definitely merits championship consideration.

The Bears do lack reserve strength but they do little fouling. Severance, Chaffin, Prouty and Hilbun are all averaging well over 10 points a game for the best balanced scoring attack in the league.

WAUCONDA, surprise winner over Antioch, is host to Glenbrook's improving Spartans Friday night. Key to Wauconda's greatly improved play is sthe greatly improved play is the play of sophomore forward, Gene Jaskot.

The fourth game of the night finds Grant's unbeaten leaders playing once-beaten Grayslake on the Rams' court. With Bob Bein back into regular action following a nose injury, and with Bill Grenell, league leading scorer, hitting them up to form, Grant will be hard to beat.

List Pairings For Libertyville Holiday Tourney

Black's May Defend Title In Paddock Bowling Tourney

Haseman Truckers, 1952 Winners, May Be In Meet, Too

It may be "title defense time" January 10 at Trausch-Linden Recreation in Bensenville when bowlers start the ball rolling in Paddock Publications third annual Inter-League Handicap bowling tournament.

At present the two former champs of Paddock bowling tournaments, Haseman Truckers and Black's Funeral Home, are leading their respective leagues.

Black's copped the meet last year, representing the Arlington Lions league. The year before it was Haseman Truckers of the Palatine House league.

FIRST PLACE teams of all men's leagues within the direct area served by Paddock Publications as of Saturday, December 19, will be eligible for the tournament January 10. In case of ties, it will be up to league officials to decide which team will represent their loop.

For the women, first place teams December 26 will be eligible for their tournament of the same name at Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine January 17.

Deadline for men's entries is December 26, including the $15 entry fees. For the women the deadline is January 2. Entries are to be sent to tournament manager, Paddock Publications, Arlington Heights.

HORATH SERVICE station keglers are just 1½ games behind Black's in the Heights Lions league. They're hoping to keep the funeral five from defending their title and participate in the prizes.

Emerald Shop of the Women Keglers league at Arlington Heights, last year's winner in the women's division tournament, is 2½ games behind Parkway Liquors, leaders in that league by one game.

Complete details of the tournament can be gained from posters and entry blanks at all of the local alleys, including Wheeling Bowling Lanes, Mt. Prospect Bowling Lanes, Arlington Hts. Bowling Lanes, Hi-Way Recreation of Palatine, Bowlwood of Wood Dale and Trausch-Linden Recreation in Bensenville.

FORTY TEAMS are expected in the men's tournament, with 20 fives looked for in the women's division. First time reservations came in this week from Wheeling, with five squads taking that many berths in the 7:45 shift at Bensenville.

Time reservations are to be made with the tournament manager at Arlington Heights.

Palatine And Arlington Lutheran Cagers Tied For First Place

Palatine, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines and Redeemer basketball squads are presently sharing first place in Lutheran league basketball, all with 2-1 marks. Palatine has just beaten Redeemer, 59-44, to force the tie.

Palatine was sparked in that game by Capt. Harry Burtzlaff and Ronald Nebel, veterans of last year, each of them scoring 17 points. Newest member of the squad is Tom Hillesheim, who cashed in for 14 scores.

Veteran Don Hertel and Herb Moehling, a new member, are seeing a great deal of action, but there's strong competition from veterans Glenn Schiller and Art Clausing. Other new members of the five are Ron Hattendorf and Elmer Rohde.

Palatine will be favored this Sunday, December 13, when the Immanuel five meets Our Saviours of Norwood Park in St. Peter gym in Arlington Heights. Game time is 3 p. m.

Palatine Bowlers 2nd, 3rd In Elgin Tourney

Jerry Dean and Albert Parkhurst of Palatine finished two-three in the Elgin bowling association's men's singles tournament, just completed at Schneider's Recreation in Elgin. Dean's 694 was second while Parkhurst went around again for 685 gross and third spot.

Wendell Weltzien of Huntley walked off with first place when he hit 704 over the week end. In fourth spot was P. Burdette of Lombard. Howard Kehe of Palatine finished seventh.

Bensenville Leads Palatine In Victories But Lose In Points

Two overtimes, one a double, three two-pointers and a one-pointer are six of the 29 basketball games played between Bensenville and Palatine high schools since the Northwest conference was reorganized before the 1939 season.

The two overtimes were successive with Palatine winning the first, 39-37, and Bensenville the second, 32-30 seven years ago.

In total points Palatine is slightly ahead, 1091-1001, though the Bisons lead in victories, 15-14. Bensenville plays host to Palatine Friday night.

Ironically, the winners' points have been going up the past four games from 40-46-54-60-66.

Grayslake Rallies To Beat Bisons, 66-62

The Bensenville cagers managed to hold a slight lead for the better part of the first half of last Friday's game against Grayslake. Grayslake nosed ahead in the last few minutes of the final quarter to win, 66 to 62.

Bensenville's coach Frank Novatny foresaw a victory for the Bisons till Long, Gengeland, and Kellett, three regulars, fouled out in the last half. A nine point gain in the third quarter kept Grayslake ahead the rest of the game.

High men for the losers were Sirotzki with eight scores and Cuatrecasas with seven. Christen was tops for the victors with 24 points.

Bensenville won the frosh-soph 30-26.

Grenell Tops NW Scoring With 45 Pts.

Bill Grenell's 27 points last Friday against Glenbrook gives the Grant star 45 in two games and a nine point lead on the field in the Northwest Conference individual scoring.

Kenneth Sirotzki of Bensenville, also a guard, is in second place with 26 points followed by Mike Haviland of Antioch with 35 and Tom Nolan of Wauconda with 34. Jay Hook who ranked fifth last year is fifth with 32. Jim Breese of the Bensenville Bisons has 31 points for the sixth spot.

Four Ela-Vernon boys have scored more than 20 points with Prouty having 22, Severance 24, Chaffin 27, and Hilbun 30.

Ela-Vernon, temporarily a school without a gym, is on top in the Northwest conference standings. Friday night they defeated Palatine in both games of a double bill to lead both divisions of the Northwest conference with 2-0 records.

The Ela varsity outlasted Palatine's Pirates to win going away 57-47 while the frosh-soph took a 38-27 victory after a close first half.

Coach Norman Ladd used just five boys to hand Palatine their fourth straight varsity loss in their new gym. Coach Mel Eide used only six to dose out the same medicine to Palatine's sophomores.

PALATINE was out in front 15-9 at the quarter in the varsity game as Abramson, Schutz, Breyer, Hapke, and Goetz played fine ball, but two of the boys got three fouls and after the combination was changed, Palatine, in eight minutes, changed from a six point lead to a seven point 27-20 deficit at the half.

Bill Breyer got three baskets in the third quarter to help Palatine rally and at one time tie the score, but missed free throws, fumbles and bad passing gave Ela the chance to move out in front again. The last few minutes of the game saw Ela extend the lead from three to ten points.

COACH LADD'S Bears were potent at the free throw line where they made 25 of 33 tries. Palatine's lack of drive in shots of a type to draw fouls and their own tendency to be out of position on defense made a great difference in number of fouls.

Chaffin had 15, Hilbun 14, and Prouty, and Severance each 12 for Ela. Goetz and Breyer scored 8 apiece for Palatine.

Barrington Stops Arlington Twice

Barrington had too much drive and skill for Arlington Heights Saturday night in a 65-44 victory over the local varsity, and 55-39 win over the frosh-sophs.

The games were never in doubt after the second quarters, though Arlington fans were hoping for a rally like the night before against Downers Grove.

Host Barrington was ahead at halftime in the varsity tilt, 36-19, and 29-13 in the preliminary. The Bronchos hit the hoop from 15-20 feet out until Heights started to press, then drove in for their usual style of game.

CARD SCORING was well divided. Larry Slinkard carded ten points for the varsity, Randag twelve for the frosh-sophs.

For Barrington it was Saveley with 18, Oberst with 16 and DeWitz with 14 for the varsity, and Goldman with 14 for the frosh-sophs.

Antioch Revives To Trounce Hebron, 54-42

Antioch came back strong from a Friday loss to Wauconda to soundly trounce Hebron Saturday at Hebron, 54-42. Mike Haviland led a third quarter scoring barrage which piled up 19 points to Hebron's five after Antioch had trailed 18-17 at half time. In all the little Antioch redhead chalked up 21 points. Teammates Ben Flowd and Don Lass tallied 10 and nine points respectively. Wilbrandt got 15 for Hebron.

Antioch's frosh-sophs took a 43-38 decision in the preliminary.

Heights Wrestlers Defeat Riverside

Arlington Heights wrestlers opened the 1953-1954 season in easy fashion Tuesday afternoon when they played host to Riverside-Brookfield. The Cardinals won both varsity and frosh-soph divisions, the veterans taking their half, 42-8, and the youngsters copping theirs, 45-11.

For Heights the victory made amends for last year's 29-22 defeat. Other than that, though, it was more of a case of R-B having little in experienced grapplers. All but three of last year's team is gone.

WINNING POINTS for the Heights varsity were Carlino, Campbell, Baumann, Turk, Mulso, Kennicott, Schaeffer, Burns and Brant. For the frosh-sophs point winners were Crane, Gregory, Pat and Mickey Harris, Beier, Ebert, Rose, Harrington and Klehm. Shortest match of the two divisions was in the 155 pound varsity weight when Bill Schaeffer pinned Klang in 41 seconds.

Officiating at the meet were Barbaro of Chicago and McCarthy of Hinsdale. Scorers were John Ligon and Ed Spacapan of the Heights faculty. Coaching the local grapplers are Dick Mudge and Arlie Fender, the latter a practice teacher aiding the sports program while at Arlington.

About 150 adults watched the afternoon contest.

Wauconda Upsets Antioch, 37-35

In the upset of the week, Wauconda dropped Antioch's highly touted five out of first place in the Northwest Conference by handing the Sequoits an unexpected 37-35 beating in a low score game.

Harold Bass, back into action for Wauconda after recovery from a football injury, made the difference. The Bulldogs took a 6-5 lead in a cold shooting first quarter and moved ahead, 17-12, at the half. In the third period, Antioch took a 27-26 lead, but opening the fourth, Nolan and Bass together scored nine points before Antioch could connect and the Bulldogs held on to win by two points.

Tom Nolan, Wauconda center, scored 18 points to move into fourth place in the league totals. Mike Haviland, Antioch's hot shot, was held to 12 points after sporting a 20 point average in the first three games.

GRANT RAN UP a 24-12 first half lead on Glenbrook Friday night and then outscored the Spartans the rest of the way in a game which became a free scoring affair in the late stages. Bill Grenell led the Bulldogs with 27 points and took over the conference scoring lead with 45 in two games.

Bob Bein got back into action for Grant after an injury and got three baskets. Bein was a top performer in the conference last year as a sophomore. Kent Raffel scored 13 at center for Grant as the Fox Lake school displayed a well balanced attack.

Bizer with 15 points and Boyd with 12 led Glenbrook, who showed considerable improvement since their defeat at Antioch 10 days earlier.

Heights Frosh And JVs Lose

Arlington's "other" basketball teams, the frosh and Jvs, lost three games over the weekend. The yearlings dubbed a 14-2 lead against Palatine Saturday for a 26-21 loss and gave a repeat performance against Barrington Monday, 43-26, after leading, 16-7, in the second period.

Coach Carl Nelson was relaxed the first period against Palatine Saturday, as his boys ran up a 9-1 lead. Then his team forgot the pattern and succumbed in a 11-2 final quarter for a loss.

At Barrington the same type of lead was cut to 17-all at the half with a 13-2 third period too much for the first year boys.

SOME OF NELSON'S boys looked good. Bill Palmer, who has good height at 6' 2", rebounded well, though he is not too accurate at the hoop. Pat Brownell and Paul Brown scored well at times, but are not consistent at yet. They both need more experience to sharpen their eyes.

John Willie and Alan Ragland appear fair ball handlers, with Dan Vittum and John Hennagsen showing plenty of fight in rebounding.

THE JV GAME was strictly a practice affair as far as Heights was concerned. Coach Howard Lester alternated groups of fives, giving him an opportunity to better look over reserve members of his varsity squad.

Barrington won the affair, 57-33. Oberst. who had collected 16 points with the varsity against Heights Saturday night, collected 14 more against the JVs Monday.

Arlington Defeats Downers In Opening Game, 62-61

"A winner never stops trying." Thus reads the motto in the Arlington Heights high school locker room, put there just last week by the art department.

Fifteen boys looked at that motto at halftime Friday night. Their team was 15 points behind in the opening West Suburban conference game.

They hadn't been ahead for even one second up to then.

BUT THAT SIGN paid off, along with some good basketball as Heights Cardinals shortened the margin to nine points in the third period, then went ahead for the only time in the game just before the gun sounded on a pass from Denny Maher to Jack Riggs, who swished the hoop for the winning margin, 62-61, over Downers Grove.

Otherwise the game was a story of a new season, a new coach and twelve boys who saw action. The locals dropped behind the opening period, 16-7, and were in back, 35-20 at the intermission.

But in that second half Jack Riggs, who had made a solitary free throw up to that time, suddenly found the range and hit four times in the third period, and five times the final segment.

THE WIN put the Cardinals at the top of the heap in both divisions, following the frosh-soph 49-29 win in the preliminary.

High point man for the Cardinals was Riggs with 20 scores. Maher tallied 11, Wayne Mueller nine, Roger Thomas eight.

In the frosh-soph encounter Coach Maurice Klotz used the entire squad in fashioning a 49-29 victory over the team that tied Heights for the championship last season. Heights led all the way, though it wasn't until the third quarter that the result was predicted.

RANDAG AND Sujack were top scorers for the sophomores, garnering 14 and 15 points. Striegel collared an even dozen for Arlington.

The two teams entertain LaGrange Friday night, then journey to Leyden Saturday.

Palatine Wrestlers Win Two Matches

Palatine wrestlers took two matches Thursday night in the old gym when the Pirate varsity beat Waukegan JV, 38-18. Palatine freshmen walloped Waukegan frosh, 48-8.

Ball Dead In Ump's Mask

When the ball so lodges in the umpire's mask after a missed third strike, the rule is that the ball is dead. However, the batter is granted first base and the runner advances a base.

Warren Succumbs

Wauconda followed up last Friday's upset win over Antioch by whipping a good Warren team of the North Suburban 52-47. Gene Jaskot and Dennis Punches each tallied 16 points to lead the scoring for the winners. Howard of Warren led his team with 14. The score was tied at 28 all at half time and Wauconda was on top 38-37 going into the final period. Warren took the preliminary 42-27.

Why Ford delivers more car for your money

and more worth when you sell it...
it's your best buy!

More go
Whether it's Ford's high-compression V-8 or Six, you get more GO per gallon, thanks to Ford's Automatic Power Pilot. Only Ford in the low-price field offers V-8 power . . . only Ford a low-friction, high-compression Six.

More ride
With Ford's advanced front suspension, front end road shock alone is reduced up to 80%. And with Ford's balanced spring and shock absorber action you travel "first class," whether on boulevard or the rough back roads.

More drive
Fordomatic is the only "automatic" in its field which offers both torque converter smoothness and the get-up-and-go of an automatic intermediate gear. Ford also offers gas-saving Overdrive and easy-shifting Conventional.

More looks
Modern, clean lines give your Ford style-setting beauty. And for eye-pleasing decor, you get exterior colors that harmonize with decorator-designed interiors. Ford's beautiful Crestmark bodies feature the most visibility in Ford's field and hull-tight construction. And the way these bodies last is just one more reason why Fords have such high resale value.

More advances
Ford alone in the low-price field brings you such fine-car features as foam-rubber cushions on all seats, on all models . . . suspended pedals . . . Center-Fill Fueling . . . and optional Ford Master-Guide, the last word in power steering, which does up to 75% of the work when you make a turn or park your car. Test Drive the Ford and you'll see why over 1,000,000 car-buyers selected Ford this year!

Words Often Misused

Do not say, "If anybody thinks this is true, they are wrong." Say, "If anybody thinks this is true, he is wrong."

Do not say, "My husband would of come, only he was too busy." Say, "would have come, but he was too busy."

D not say, "He said for you to deliver this message." Say, "He said that you should deliver this message."

Avoid the use of "party" in the sense of "person." Leave the word "party" to the legal documents and the telephone operators.

"Contemplate" means to look forward to, and implies a serious act. For instance, one would not say that one contemplates going to the theater.

Do not say, "He speaks with a slow drawl." This is a redundancy, and "slow" should be omitted.

Words Often Mispronounced

Moribund. Pronounce the o as in on (not as in more), accent first syllable.

Paramour. Pronounce para-moor, both a's as in at (second a unstressed), oo as in look, accent first syllable.

Diocese. Pronounce di-o-ses, i as in die, o as in no, e as in see, accent first syllable.

Melee. Pronounce as may-lay, accent on second syllable.

Detonate. Pronounce det-o-nat, e as in debt, o as in no unstressed, a as in ate, accent on first syllable.

Hosiery. Pronounce ho-zher-i, not ho-zer-i.

Words Often Misspelled

Lightning (flash of light); lightening (relieving of weight). Supersede; sede, not cede. Millennium; observe the two l's and the two n's. Battalion, two t's, one l; medallion, one d, two l's. Misstate and misspend; two s's. Encumbrance; not encumberance.

Word Study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Indispensable; absolutely necessary. "His services are indispensable."

Peremptory; taking away a right of action, debate, etc.; conclusive. "The officer's peremptory command was obeyed reluctantly."

Squalid; dirty through neglect. "The family was found living in squalid distress."

Incipiency; beginning; commencement. "The disease was in its incipiency."

Embryonic; undeveloped. "The business is still in the embryonic state."

Five Hundred John Smiths Wreaking Havoc In VA Office

Veterans administration has explained why some Illinois veterans are not receiving faster replies to their letters concerning claims for benefits.

Robert D. Beer, manager of the VA regional office in Chicago, said it is receiving an average of almost five thousand pieces of "mystery" mail every month—mail without proper identification either of the veteran or of his claim.

Since such mail requires a considerable search through records to identify the veteran or his claim, delays result in replying, Beer said.

THE MONTHLY average of five thousand pieces of "mystery" mail is approximately five per cent of the 100,000 pieces of mail received by the Chicago veterans administration office each month. That means five out of every one hundred letters require some tracing work to relate them to the right veterans and the right claims.

There are over a million names on file with the Chicago regional office. Eight thousand of them are veterans named Johnson. 380 are Charles Johnson, and over 300 are Robert Johnson. Out of five thousand Smiths in the index file, 500 are named John Smith. That will give you a good example of why it's often almost impossible to answer a letter if the veteran has not included the proper identification.

FOR FASTER service, Beer advises every veteran writing to VA concerning a claim for a benefit to follow these simple instructions:

Give your full name and address, preferably printed or typewritten over your signature.

Give your service serial number.

If VA already has allotted you a "C" or claims number, give that too. It is one of the most important numbers in VA's filing system.

Where GI life insurance is involved, you should also specify the policy number.

In event you cannot remember or locate your "C" number or insurance policy number, be sure to give your date of birth and the period in which you served on active duty in the armed forces.

Many Favor Proposed Hotel for Park Ridge

The Park Ridge zoning board of appeals has opened consideration of the request for a variation in zoning laws to permit the erection of a $1½ million dollar, 12 story apartment hotel on the present site of the Edward Hines Lumber company at Touhy and Meacham, Park Ridge.

Supporters believe it will bring badly needed tax revenue to this city; it will fill the need of many Park Ridgians for a place to live after their children have married and moved away from home; it will not encroach on any residential area; it will be sound-proof; it will answer its own parking problem with an underground parking area; it will provide dining hall and banquet facilities useful to the city.

Lighted Home Tells Holiday Cheer

Have you ever suspected that the man next door or the neighbor across the street achieved just a little more of a professional result with his outdoor holiday decorations than you have? If so, maybe the answer lies in the fact that he planned his display on paper, not as you did, as you went along putting up your outdoor lights.

One of the best ways I know to arrive at an effective display is to make a rough sketch of your house and indicate how you are going to decorate it. Then check your equipment to see if you have everything you need and that what you do have is in good condition.

Save Time-Energy

There are many ways this plan on paper can help you. If your house has interesting architectural features, it will remind you to emphasize them with lights. Once you've decided on your basic design, you may find it helpful to install ordinary brass cup hooks which can't rust and hang your strings of outdoor lights on them. Leave the hooks in year 'round to speed up next year's lighting job. Remember too that the neater you string your wires, the more professional your results will be. Dangling wires detract from the design.

Notice in the photograph above how lights can emphasize the interesting line of a roof. Placing the lights close together can outline the roof in almost a continuous band of light. Although you can't see it in the black and white photograph, using only one or two colors will give your display a more unified appearance.

Lights Can Contrast

For contrast, for instance, you can use cool colors to outline the house and warm colors around your door. Warm colors will give a feeling of welcome at entrances.

In addition to your strings of outdoor colored lights, plan your holiday decorations so the whole effect will present a pleasing picture. The home pictured above shows good use of ready-made, ready-to-hang lighted devices that can add variety to your exterior decorating. Notice how a lighted star on one side of the house is balanced with a lighted Santa mask on the opposite side of the house. The indoor tree in the picture window which is framed with strings of colored lights, becomes an important part of the overall holiday theme.

For additional highlights, the front doorway which is hung with sprays of Christmas greens and shiny red bells, is spotlighted by a weatherproof projector spotlight concealed behind the shrubbery.

Editor's Note: Since ready-made lighted decorations play such an important part in outdoor holiday decorating schemes, General Electric lighting specialists bring you news of some of the interesting types of lighted decorations you may expect to find in your favorite stores this season.

Expressing the Christmas spirit within your home by decorating the outside for the holidays is one way of sharing yuletide happiness with everyone. If you can spend only a limited amount of time, yet want something a bit unusual, plan to use some of the interesting ready-made decorations now available. You'll find the cost reasonable when you consider that these lasting decorations can be used for years to come. Your own originality will suggest many individual ways you can adapt these decorations to your own home.

If you're looking for a new point of interest for this year's holiday decorations then don't miss the colorful lighted Santa Sleigh and Reindeer units. These ready-made cut-outs need only be assembled and plugged into your nearest weatherproof electrical outlet. The reindeer is 40 inches high, 36 inches wide and the sleigh 48 inches wide and 38 inches high. There's fun for everyone when you put a jolly lighted Snowman beside your front door to greet holiday guests. This gay little figure, 30 inches high, is molded in full color vinylite with a light inside to give him a life-like appearance. There are also jolly lighted Santas, both large and small for outdoor use. Ever wished you could add holiday cheer on the outside of your house without ever stirring outdoors? Then try hanging one of the attractive Santa face wreaths inside one front window and lighted candle wreaths in several others. Speaking of Santa Claus, the children will adore one of the life-like ones in full three dimensional color right on their own doorstep. This jolly elf is 30 inches high and lighted, of course, so he can glow a happy welcome to all. How to decorate the doorway is no problem with the string of lighted bells. These colorful five and one-half-inch plastic bells are completely wired in sets of seven so it takes only a few minutes to hang them over your door or windows. Another good way to save time yet acquire professional results is with the new ready-wired aluminum strip lights. Since the strips are flexible, all you need to do is bend them into the designs you want, fasten it in place and put in your Christmas bulbs. If your decorating plan includes a star try heralding the season with one that's nearly 10 inches across. Outdoor multiple bulbs in any color you want forms the tips of this simple and attractive symbol of the season. Another interesting item you won't want to miss are the huge plastic candles over three feet tall. Made of colored vinylite, these brilliantly lighted candles will add a festive touch to any holiday decorating scheme. Among the many lighted decorations designed for both outdoor and indoor use are the lighted Santa plaques. Since they're weatherproof, try one over the front door. The 17-inch high life-like image of this jolly old St. Nick can greet guests this year and perhaps another year have a place of honor over the mantle indoors. Speaking of Santa plaques, if you're looking for something a bit unusual, you'll enjoy the lighted type with Santa astride one of his reindeers. This colorful plastic plaque measures 18 by 14 and is lighted inside to give it a life-like appearance.

Harmonize Your Indoor, Outdoor Decorating Plan

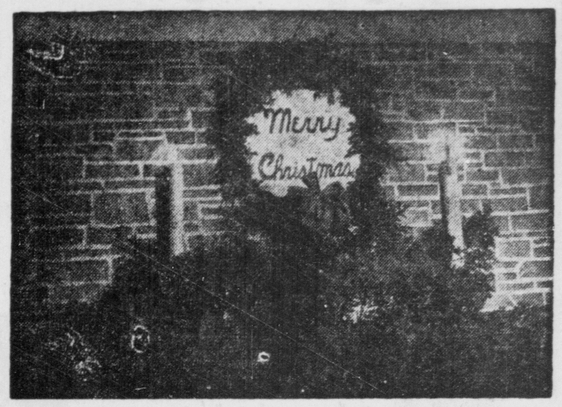

For an unusual effect, General Electric holiday lighting experts suggest that you plan to harmonize your indoor-outdoor decorations.

At first glance at the picture above, the indoor Christmas tree in the bay window looks like a reflection of the larger outdoor tree. Trick is, of course, to decorate them alike so the above was part of the permanent landscaping, you could use a cut tree in place of a permanent one.

Notice how floodlights hidden high in the tree at the left in the picture bathe the entire house in light. Use 150-watt spotlights with color caps for a dramatic color effect or without caps for white light.

Lighted wreaths in the upstairs windows complete the decoration.

Giant Wreath-Lighted Candles Greet Outdoors

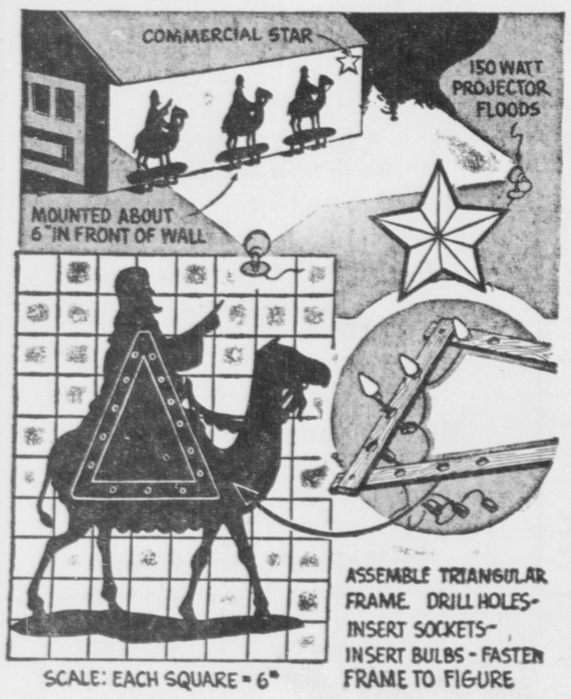

When your house is on a corner lot it's often hard to think up ideas for the side. Here is an idea for an attractive arrangement that can be adapted to plain areas on the outside of your home.

Make or buy a large wreath of greens. Put your own personal Christmas greeting on the inside against a circle of white oilcloth, plywood or heavy cardboard and mount it in the center of the wreath. Be sure to choose weatherproof materials unless you live in a dependable, fair-weather climate.

Flank the wreath with two large ready-wired candles. If you prefer to make your own, General Electric lighting specialists suggest that one very simple type can be made from two-inch water pipe mounted in a crock or jug and lighted with a colored bulb.

Finish off with a bank of greens or shrubbery to conceal a 150-watt projector spotlight in an outdoor holder of the weatherproof type and aim it at the wreath.

Make Your Own Wise Men

If you like to make your own shown in the sketch. Mount lighted holiday decorations, here is one figures about six inches out from that is inspirational enough to be the wall and install a lighted star used for many seasons. Choose an above the figures. Floodlight the unbroken, plain area of your house scene with a pair of 150-watt pro- or garage as a background for the jector lamps equipped with blue Three Wise Men. More Holiday Lighting Tips

A Santa on your doorstep is a jolly way to greet holiday guests. Even if you're not an artist you can still create a Santa like the one above. This simple likeness was designed by General Electric artist Louis Amer especially for people who can't draw straight lines.

First, cover your door in red oilcloth, plastic or color-fast cloth. Then, out of sheets of cotton, cut out just the front band of Santa's cap, a ball for the tassel, cuffs for his sleeves, a rounded strip for the bottom of his coat, and a pair of tops for his boots. Don't forget a beard with a tiny hole for his mouth and two tufts of cotton for eyebrows. Use black buttons for eyes and larger ones down the front of his coat.

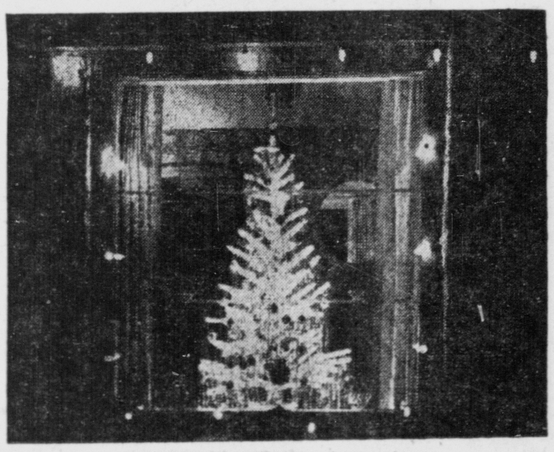

Secure these pieces to the red background. Notice in the sketch above that only the tops of the boots and hands are needed to complete the illusion. For these, use black cardboard, oilcloth or other material depending upon your climate.

Complete your doorway with a frame of colored outdoor Christmas tree lights nestled in greens and place a candle wreath above the door.

For highlights and sparkle, place a pair of 150-watt projector floodlights about three feet from the door and aim them on your own personal Santa.

Silver Tree With Frame Of Lights Looks Attractive

Outdoor Tree Lights Can Be Too Strong, May Burn

In a plea for fire safety instairs and heating and lighting fixChicago, the Greater Chicago safety council pointed out that Christmas trees and various holiday decorations are fire hazards and should be carefully watched. Many fires are caused by Christmas trees.

The flammability of Christmas trees is well known, and considerable thought has been given to the question of rendering them less easily ignited. Various methods of treating trees with flameproofing solutions have been tried but none have proven successful. Because of the inability to make Christmas trees flameproof it is urged that other protective practices be adopted.

Here are some further safety practices, according to Mr. Ahern:

1. Buy a tree that has been cut as recently as possible. Do not use a tree having brittle stems as it is dried out and will burn easily.
2. Keep the tree outdoors until ready to install it.
3. Do not set it up until a few days before Christmas.
4. Set up the tree in the coolest part of the house away from tures at dusk and another after dark. Work around F-4.5 or larger about 15 to 30 feet from your subject. In color a basic exposure would be three to four seconds at F-4.5 or 60 seconds at F-16.

Wind can also be another hazard. When lights and decorations are moving, they can often ruin a time exposure. If possible, try to shoot outdoor pictures on a still night.

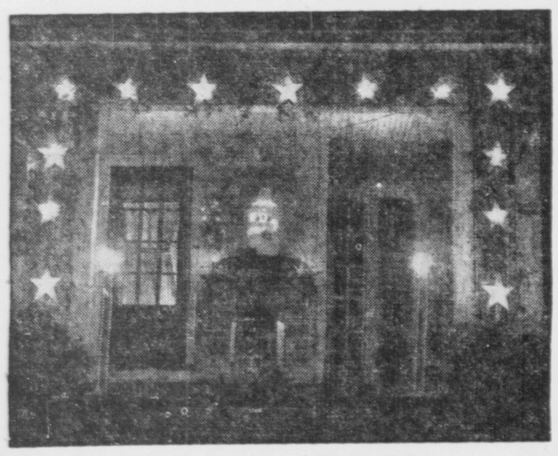

When taking outdoor movies, your best recourse, advises Mr. Mohler, is to give your movie camera all the exposure you can and to shoot as early in the evening as decorations are lighted. Put your movie camera on a tripod—open the lens wide—F-1.4—F-2.8—F-3.5. Also, if you can, slow your camera down to eight frames per second.

5. In schools, churches, hospitals, hotels and industry and other places of public assembly, the location of the tree is of vital importance. It should not be placed near any stairway, elevator shaft or near entrance door or otherwise block exits. It should not be located in the line of travel to any exit.
6. Under no circumstances use any cotton or paper for decoration of the tree or for room decoration and avoid the use of lighted candles.
7. People in pageants and processions should carry electric candles run by flashlight batteries. DO NOT use Open flame Lights.

In the Future

Do-it-yourselfers will welcome a new counter-top material at a greatly reduced price. It cuts with scissors, adheres permanently with cement . . . A spirit-level device makes it possible to drill holes at precisely square angles with portable drills . . . You may now buy a French-frier to fit into the long-cooking well in your gas range, if you have that kind . . . A supersonic burglar and fire alarm, which operates by bouncing high-frequency waves from wall to wall, kills mice as an extra dividend, and gives rats headaches . . . Perhaps that friend who has everything doesn't have a keycase which pops out the wanted key in the dark, when he presses a corresponding raised symbol on the case.

Frame The Door, Window Or Porch With Lighted Stars

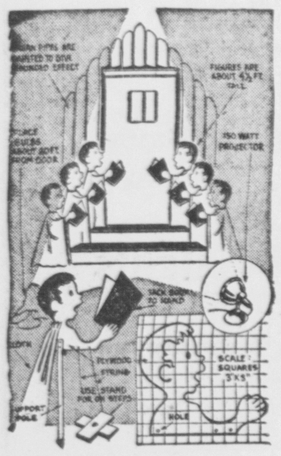

A frame of glowing lighted stars around a window, porch or doorway can make a most effective holiday decoration. Stars can be simple ones you make yourself from foil-covered plywood cut-outs with an outdoor Christmas bulb in the center of each or, you can use the commercial ones which you buy ready-to-hand.

If you're looking for something new that the whole family can do, look at the photograph above. To follow this decorating scheme, first frame your porch in lighted stars. Fill in with short branches of greens. Then, let the children help decorate the home-built mantel which has a light tucked inside the fireplace for a realistic effect. Hang a lighted Santa figure above the mantel. If you make your own Santa figure, hide a spotlight inside the fireplace and direct it on the figure.

Finish off your setting with a large pair of candles which you can buy ready made. General Electric holiday lighting specialists point out that you can use your imagination freely when arranging outdoor decorations. Just be sure to use weatherproof lights, wiring and sockets designed for outdoor use.

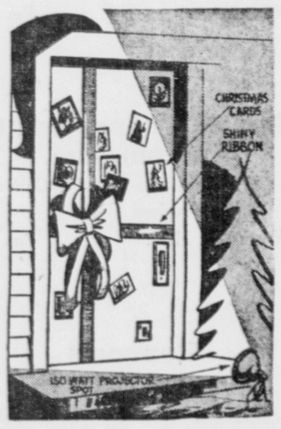

Choir Boys And Organ Can Greet Holiday Guests

Just imagine the fun you can have greeting holiday guests with a group of winsome choirboys gathered beside an organ at your own front door.

As shown in the sketch above, use strips of quarter-inch pressed wood or plywood for the organ pipes. Cut them in graduated lengths that will fit around your front door. Then paint pipes gold or white and to give them a rounded effect, use an almost dry brush to feather the edges.

Next, enlarge the pattern above for heads and arms and cut shapes from wood. Attach to firm supports as shown in the drawings. Then tack cloth robes around the necks of the figures and tack plywood "songbooks" in each hand.

Compliment your friends on their choice of Christmas cards by using them as part of your holiday decorating scheme indoors and outside too. As shown in the sketch above you can make a festive holiday doorway with a collection of Christmas cards. Use wide plastic or oilcloth streamers to "tie" your door as a gift package. Make a large bow and tack or staple it in place. Then add your most colorful cards.

Finish off with a 150-watt projector spotlight in an outdoor-type holder placed several feet away to focus attention on your arrangement and to bring out the color in the cards.

There are many homes, frequently two-family types, which have a large glass panel in the front door. If you have patience and enjoy putting things together with your hands, you can convert the glass panel into a beautifully illuminated "stained-glass" window for the holidays.

As shown in the sketch above, use bits of colored cellophane to follow a design which you have traced on the window with a china marking pencil. Use black electrical tape to create the "leaded" effect. Frame the scene in branches of greens. To light the window and give it a luminous effect, place a 150-watt reflector flood in a swivel socket in the nearest ceiling socket in the hallway inside and aim it on the door. These swivel sockets which allow you to turn the bulb where you want it, can be purchased in most electrical stores.

Here's Frosty

If your stairway is within view of your front doorway, another clever way to use those doors with large glass panels is to "build" a snowman around the newel post. Use several bed pillows and cover with sheets or cotton, an old hat, pipe and a colorful scarf for the snowman's neck. Light your happy doorman with a 150-watt projector spotlight placed so that it is not uncomfortable for guests entering or leaving the house.

Decorate Your Doorway For Holidays

If you want to give your doorway a glowing welcome for the holidays, here's a suggestion from General Electric lighting experts for busy homeowners who can spend a minimum of time on outdoor decorating.

The simple yet professional result shown in the doorway pictured above was achieved with new strip lighting and household aluminum foil. Long strips of foil were crushed to cover the door frame and stapled in place. Strips of colored lights, available in two, three and six-foot lengths were tacked onto the "foil frame." Another strip light circle was centered above the doorway.

Although you may not see all of the details in the picture above, the front door itself was decorated with jolly snowmen cut-outs of wrapping paper. The cut-outs and a Merry Christmas greeting were attached inside the storm door.

A background of pine branches and white tipped cones tied with red ribbon is fastened to the inner front door.

KAMERA KORNER

Between now and New Year's Day you'll have many chances to shoot colorful and dramatic outdoor lighted displays. Start planning now on just how you are going to take the pictures to avoid disappointments. Success depends on a number of simple things, according to Don Mohler, General Electric photographic expert. Here are a few photographic tips which Mr. Mohler suggests you keep in mind when taking holiday pictures.

First, no handheld snapshots! Even at F-2 it takes 1-25th of a second for color snapshots—too slow a speed for rock steady results. Always use a tripod even with fast black and white film. Also remember that color always needs about four times as much exposure as black and white.

Weather is a real factor as you plan ahead for outdoor shots after dark in winter. Below freezing temperatures slow down shutters. Play safe and make a time exposure running from one to 15 seconds or longer and a cold, slow-working shutter will not be nearly so much a factor as at snapshot speeds. Don't forget to wait for snow to enhance the scene you want to shoot.

Time of day can make or break a picture. When shooting a decorated home or building, you don't want to lose the outline and you may even want some tone or color in the sky. Get set up by sundown and shoot while there is still some glow in the sky and keep shooting until dark. With camera locked to tripod, all views will be the same, only the lighting effect will be varied.

You may also want to try firing a flash during one of the expos-

Thanksgiving...1953

For this we give thanks!

For husbands and sons safely home.

For the end of days racked with loneliness and fear. For the silence of the guns in the Korean hills.

But let us remember that just to be thankful for peace has never been enough to keep peace. It can only be preserved by a country that is strong and secure.

That takes will and work and saving, by all of us.

Only if each one of us saves for his own family security can we have the national security which provides the power for peace!

Maybe saving hasn't been easy for you, but you will find that you can save—and easily, too—by investing in U. S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Ask any friends now on this Savings Plan. They'll tell you that you never miss the money because it is saved for you, before you get your salary!

You can save as little as a couple of dollars a payday.

Mary Seegers

Mrs. Mary Seegers, 86, late of 45 N. Seventh ave., Des Plaines, died at her home December 6.

Born in Elk Grove February 9, 1867, she married Herman Seegers June 10, 1889. Her husband died April 15, 1950. Two children, Arthur and Lilly, also preceded her in death.

She leaves nine children, Jessie Winkelman of Woodstock, Emil of Burlington, Ill., Minnie Erber of McHenry, Christ of Crystal Lake, Emma Mueller of Elk Grove, William and Herbert, both of Des Plaines, Laura Dahmer and Martha Schorr, both of Des Plaines; 34 grandchildren, and 38 great grandchildren.

Prayer service was held at Oehler's Funeral Home at 1:30 p. m. December 9. Services were then held at Immanuel Lutheran church at 2 p. m. Rev. Allen H. Fedder officiated at both services. Interment, Ridgewood cemetery.

THURSDAY, DEC. 10, 1953

Adah A. Leonard

Mrs. Adah A. Leonard, 81, 735 N. Dunton ave., Arlington Heights, died at her home December 5.

Mrs. Leonard was born August 20, 1872, in DeKalb, Ill. Her husband, Edward, died in 1950.

She leaves two daughters, Doris Schlag of Sioux City, Iowa, and Erma Stacy of Arlington Heights, and six grandsons. A son, David, preceded her in death.

Rev. Birger Dahl officiated at a prayer service held at Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home Monday. Her remains were then taken to Darlington, Wis., for services December 8 at 2 p. m. at Union Grove cemetery chapel. Rev. Ernest Jeffrey officiated. Interment, Union Grove cemetery.

Jacob Hoelz

Funeral services will be held Friday, December 11, for Jacob Hoelz, 84, late of 904 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights, at Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home at 2 p. m. Reader Swen Swanson will officiate. Interment, Arlington Heights cemetery.

Mr. Hoelz was born February 26, 1869, in Randon Lake, Wis. He was married November 24, 1912, in Milwaukee, Wis. A retired caretaker for the Christian Science church, he died December 8 at the Magnus Farm. He had been a resident of Arlington Heights 51 years.

He leaves his wife, Dorothea; two sisters, Anna Stoutz of Washington and Lucy Hetzel of Plymouth, Wis.

Walter H. Burden

Walter H. Burden, 49, Chicago, brother of Ralph W. Burden, E. Sherman st., Palatine, died November 22 at his home.

He was born in Woodston, Kan., and educated in Seibert, Colo. He came to Chicago in 1925 to seek employment, where he, his brother, Ralph, sisters, Ethel and Dorothy, were all employed.

He leaves: his daughter, Joyce Ann Terry; three grandchildren, Michelle, Mark and Marilyn; and his son-in-law, August Terry. Interment, Evergreen cemetery.

Conrad Moehling

Conrad Moehling, a pioneer resident of this area, died suddenly December 4 at the age of 89 years at the home of his son, William, 358 E. Chicago ave., Palatine. He was in apparent good health until his death.

Funeral services were held at St. Paul Evangelical and Reformed church December 7 with Rev. Glenn G. Gumm, officiating. Interment was in South Side cemetery.

Deceased was born in Indiana April 27, 1864, the son of Henry and Katherine Moehling. He spent his boyhood in Elk Grove township and was confirmed in St. John church April 11, 1878.

He married Miss Dorothea Schroeder February 6, 1890. They began farming on Dundee rd., remaining there 32 years and moved to 223 N. Benton, Palatine in 1922. Mrs. Moehling died March 5, 1952.

There remain three sons, William, Henry and Alfred; four grandchildren, three great grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. William A. Meyer, Arlington Heights.

Ross Storm

Funeral services will be held Thursday at two o'clock at Tharp funeral home, Palatine, for Ross Storm, a veteran of World War I, who died Tuesday at Hines hospital after an illness of two and one-half years. A third stroke took his life. Interment will be in Memory Gardens, Arlington Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Storm resided 16 years in Mount Prospect and the last nine years at 53 N. Ashland, Palatine. Deceased leaves his wife and a daughter, Mrs. William Farr, Elgin.

Mr. Storm was born at Matoon, Ill., September 30, 1888. He married Miss Mata Smith September 8, 1923. Previous to his illness he was manager of the Foster and Co. shoe store, Michigan ave., Chicago.

Dr. Abelmann's Book on Cancer Presented at Congress of Scientists

Dr. H. W. Abelmann, president of the American Free Academy received a report of the fourth congress of the Internationale Freie Academies held recently at Bad Kreuznath, Germany, from President Dr. W. Von Brehmer.

The report states that the fifteen countries represented included research scientists and physicians connected with the many branches of the Internationale Freie Academies.

Dr. H. Von Brehmer presented to the congress in behalf of Dr. Abelmann his book, "Cancer As I See It." It deals with the infectious nature of cancer which was the principal topic of the congress. The IFA and its scientists claim that because of the infectious nature of the tests, it is in a sense epidemic.

A result of the five year cancer treatment and the cancer blood tests with case histories will be reported to the Academies meeting next year.

Dr. Von Brehmer told the press that the congress meeting was not a medical society, but was a gathering of scientists dealing in research supported by results in thousands of cases treated for cancer.

The scientists at the congress agreed that the biological and innertherapeutical therapy of cancer should be recognized by medical authorities over the world. And that it is just as important as surgery and x-ray and radium.

Dr. Abelmann hopes this theory will be incorporated into the equipment of the physicians who are most anxious to cure the patient with the help of both methods.

About Your Health

A parent who attempts to break his child of thumbsucking by scolding, or even coaxing, is not using good judgment. Either practice can be harmful because it denotes a lack of everyday common sense in rearing a child, the Educational Committee of the Illinois State Medical Society advise in HEALTH TALK.

A child's first automatic sense of comfort is through sucking. Whether breast or bottle fed, sucking satisfies his hunger, and it isn't long before he discovers that the thumb is a handy gadget for his mouth and thus is established the thumbsucking habit. Very often the habit suggests that the baby is not getting enough sucking—perhaps he has been taken away too soon from the breast or the bottle, or again he has been put on a nursing schedule that allows too few nursing periods. In any event, the child derives comfort from his sucking, an important factor in why he does it.

AS THE CHILD grows older, he usually resorts to sucking his thumb to fill an emotional need. Feeling unwanted and alone may be responsible, so he seeks to satisfy himself. Unhappiness, fear and insecurity are emotional problems that loom high on a child's horizon.

It is generally conceded that up to the first few years, thumbsucking may be considered normal with the habit acting as a sort of pacifier or comforter. A child's curiosity is an ever present wonder. The more he explores the new things about him, the more his mind is taken away from himself. Usually by the time he reaches the wonders of his five to six years of age world, the thumbsucking habit is forgotten.

IF THE PRACTICE continues beyond this age, however, definite steps for correction should be undertaken by consulting with your physician. In the very young child, it is unlikely that much pressure will be exerted against the roof of the mouth or on the jaws. However, as the child grows older, it is possible to exert greater pressure which, in many cases, may result in some structural defects of the jaws. And then again, in an older child the habit suggests an emotional need, a gap that should be filled to insure normal mental growth.

Thumbsucking is often associated with going to sleep. Parents dislike seeing their children grow up too soon, yet many will berate them for being afraid of the dark or being left alone in the room. They scold these youngsters for not being "grown up," and for having baby fears. Instead of threatening, why not concede a little, so that the child understands you are trying to help overcome these fears?

Shaming, threatening, scolding and conversely bribing and coaxing are all methods used in the correction of thumbsucking. Unfortunately, the application of bitter solutions, splints and other restraints are also tried.

A surprise farewell dinner was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schmitt of Mount Prospect at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Grismer Jr., Saturday. The Schmitts are moving to San Diego, Calif. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Daggett, Michigan City; Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schmitt, Mr. and Mrs. Art Schmehling and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brodnan and family.

Welcome Neighbor

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Swearingen and family moved into their new home on Golf rd. Saturday.

Attend Health Meeting

Mrs. Bob Hutchings Walter Sundblad, Mrs. Vernon Westberg, Mrs. Howard Koepke and Mrs. Stanley Luczak attended the health meeting held at the Elk Grove school Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Robb and son, Tommy, of Arlington Heights, were Sunday supper guests at the home of the Chuck Jevnes.

Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Prasnikar attended a Christmas party for the Chicago Veterinary Medical Association at the Palmer House Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Juhnke attended the wedding of Herman Coelick Saturday. The marriage took place at St. Peter Lutheran church in Arlington Heights, at 7 p.m. A reception was held at St. Mary school in Buffalo Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Petry attended a couple's club dance in Evanston Saturday evening. The Petrys were former president and co-president of this club.

Christmas Vacation

Forest View and the Airport school will be dismissed Tuesday, Dec. 22, following a Christmas party for the children and mothers. School will be resumed Monday, Jan. 4.

Mother's Club

The Forest View Mother's club held its monthly meeting December 1, with an attendance of 22 mothers. After all business was discussed, our social chairman, Mrs. Kenneth Hartman, arranged a wonderful Christmas program for us. Christmas carols were sung by Miss Patty June Hartman, Miss Juanita Graves, Ronald Graves and Theodore Robinson. The lights were turned off and red candles held by each girl formed an effective background for some toe dancing. We wish to express our thanks to the girls and boys who participated and especially to Mrs. Hartman. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Russell Anderson and Mrs. Vernon Westberg. Coffee was prepared by Mrs. Howard Koepke. "Happy Birthday" was sung to Mrs. Myrt Jevne, Mrs. Keller, Mrs. Dorothy Hartman and Mrs. Eunice Hutchings. Mrs. Salinas was congratulated upon her tenth wedding anniversary.

A Word of Caution

Your reporter has been asked to warn the vicinity about the burglaries which have occurred recently. Just a word of caution to home owners to keep all doors and windows locked when going away.

Grab Bag Party

The Forest View Mother's club will hold a Christmas grab bag party at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Hartman, Seegers rd., Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m. Those planning to attend should call either Mrs. Martha Sundblad, Clearbrook 3-2821, or Mrs. Irene Sundblad, Clearbrook 3-9318, as soon as possible, and bring a 50 cent gift.

Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Prasnikar and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Luczak spent Saturday evening square dancing at Pennoyer school, Canfield and Higgins aves., Chicago. This dance is sponsored by the Mother's club and is held there the first three Saturdays of every month. Don Finfrock and Phil Berg are the regular callers.

School Christmas Party

Dear Mother: The teachers and student body are inviting you to the Christmas party to be held at the Forest View school Tuesday, Dec. 22. The children will hold a 50 cent gift exchange.

Please return notes to the teacher with acceptance or regrets checked on sample below not later than Monday, Dec. 14. Also check the number of pre-school children who will attend. Mothers with pre-school children must bring a gift for each child they bring with his name attached.

I will attend.
I will not attend.

Stork Feathers

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Delgado are the parents of a son, born November 30, at St. Francis hospital in Evanston. The baby weighed 6 pounds and 13 ounces. Jamie Jon has three brothers—Danny, 5, Timmie, 2, and Leo, 7, who attends Forest View school. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Delgado, Golf rd., near Des Plaines.

The Joe Muellers attended a birthday party for Jimmie Mueller, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mueller of Chicago, Monday.

Joseph Mueller of Wisconsin Dells is visiting his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mueller and family.

Forest View 4-H Club

Forest View 4-H club of Arlington Heights will meet December 18 at the Forest View school.

The last meeting was held at the home of Walter Loy. The group decided to make models of planes or boats for one of their winter projects.

An assistant leader is urgently needed for this group.

Elk Grove Community

Christmas Program

Elk Grove community is invited to the Christmas program at the school December 17 at 8 p.m. All children will participate. Refreshments will be served. It is suggested that parents see that their younger children stay in one place during the performance and not shift seats nor move about.

Mothers' Club

Mothers' club meeting is today, Thursday, at 1:30 in the auditorium. Included on the program will be Christmas music by the upper grade chorus. All mothers are invited.

Dental Check-up

Three-way dental cards are being sent home with all pupils. The purpose is to have a dentists' record of inspection and correction if needed in the school health records. Parents are requested to make a dental date for their children now at the dentists so that the inspection card can be returned before the deadline date, February 1.

"Healthy teeth are essential for a child's present and future happiness—please cooperate with this project," asks Principal Dennis Malcolmson.

Spelling Contest

Tonight, Thursday, at 7:30 at South school in Arlington Heights, Nancy Heimsoth will compete against the best spellers of this area. The public is invited. South school is three blocks south of the business district and four blocks west of Arlington Heights (State) road. The whole contest is very interesting and exciting. Good luck, Nancy!

There was no school Tuesday because of a serious leak in the boiler. Workmen spent all day Monday and Tuesday replacing the flues in order to repair the heating system. Parents were notified of the sudden schedule change in various ways including phone calls and an announcement over radio station WMAQ.

Christmas Vacation

School will close Friday, Dec. 18 at 3 p.m. for vacation and will reopen Monday, Jan. 4 at 9 a.m.

Attend Funeral

Christian Magnussen of Augusta, Wis., brother of Arthur Magnussen of Arlington Heights, was shot and killed last Thursday in a hunting accident in the Eau Claire area. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Magnussen attended the funeral Monday. Christian was the father of two small children and resided on a farm near Augusta. Mrs. Arthur Magnussen is primary teacher at the Wilson school.

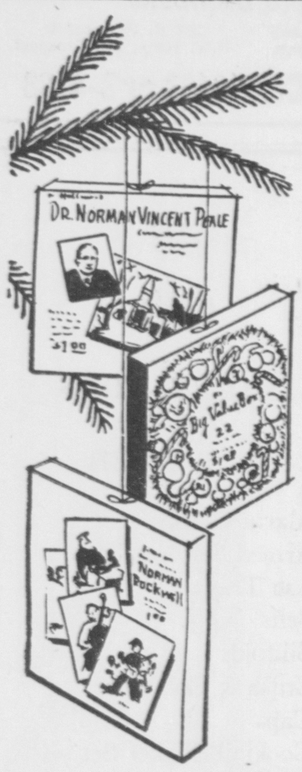

PTA Hold Dinner

Wilson PTA will sponsor a ham dinner in the school basement December 13 from 1 to 4 p.m., and tickets are $1.25 for adults and 65 cents for children. Mrs. William Thompson is chairman of the dinner, and Mrs. C. Sundquist, co-chairman. Reservations may be made with any of the following ladies: Mrs. Thompson, CL 3-5066; Mrs. Sundquist, CL 3-5206; Mrs. Moskal, CL 3-5882; Mrs. Schanmier, CL 3-7341, or Mrs. Steiger, CL 3-9419. Tickets also may be purchased at the door.

Plan Yule Program

Wilson school children are busy rehearsing a Christmas program which will be given at the school December 21.

AK-1 Bruce Murphy and Mrs. Murphy and family have returned from the Philippine Islands where Bruce was stationed for the past two years. They are now in San Diego, Calif., and expect to be there for the next two years. Mrs. Murphy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moskal of Rand rd.

George Travers Of Mt. Prospect Named To Red Cross Home Service Committee

George Travers, 502 W. Lonnquist Parkway, Mount Prospect, has been named to serve on the volunteer home service advisory committee of the Chicago chapter, American Red Cross, by Perce G. Brautigam, volunteer chairman of home service for Chicago chapter Red Cross.

As a member of the committee, Travers will confer with Brautigam and others of the 15-member group, in an advisory capacity to the home service department. He will assist the chairman in maintaining a home service program consistent with policies established by the American national Red Cross, and make recommendations related to the necessary implementation of the program to Samuel G. Creden, chapter chairman.

"RED CROSS home service department was created when the armed forces requested assistance be given to dependents of servicemen in meeting family problems during the period when the serviceman is on military duty away from home," said Travers.

"Problems of sickness, death, and of social and financial change often deal serious blows to the family. These problems frustrate the serviceman, who is not at home and cannot deal directly with them," he added.

"Giving assistance required not only knowledge of military regulations," Travers explained, "but familiarity with the social, medical, and economic resources of the community."

TRAVERS EXPLAINED that the present home service program of financial assistance provides priority aid to wives and children of men in the service, to veterans with disabilities resulting from military service, and to dependents of men whose death resulted from military service.

Travers moved to Mount Prospect last March from Chicago's northwest side, and became active in the Sunset Park community association. He and Mrs. Travers are members of the Arlington Heights Evangelical Free church.

Deaths Declining

TB deaths are dropping, but the disease is still a serious one. There were just half as many TB deaths in 1951 as in 1941.

At Indiana

Jane Ames, 615 Mayfair rd., Ruth Ellis, 919 S Vail ave., Robert Evans, 1131 N. Harvard rd., Frances Hubbard, 525 Bristol ln., Philip Knoeppel, 616 N. Ridge, and Patricia Watkins, 522 S. Dryden, all of Arlington Heights, are enrolled at Indiana university.

At Denison

Two performances of Handel's "Messiah" will be given for the 49th season in Swasey chapel at Denison university, Granville, Ohio, Saturday, Dec. 12, at 8 p. m., and Sunday, Dec. 13, at 2:30 p. m. The 250-voice chorus and 50-piece orchestra are largely made up of Denison students. From this area:

Judith Gregg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Gregg, 523 S. Belmont ave., freshman, will sing alto.

At Cornell

Miss Margaret Twigg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Twigg, 623 N. Hickory, Arlington Heights, will take part in Cornell college's 49th annual performance of Handel's "Messiah" to be staged Sunday, December 13, at 3 p. m. in King Memorial chapel.

The chorus for this year's performance, composed of the Cornell Oratorio society, the Cornell orchestra, townspeople, and alumni, numbers 190 voices, the largest in the history of the presentation here.

At Illinois College

Theater-in-the-Round set a new precedent for the Hilltop players on the Illinois college campus as they opened their 1953-54 season December 3 and 4 with their presentation of Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke," directed by Joseph Graham.

The costume committee for this production was headed by Frances Zollner, sophomore, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zollner, R. 2, Box 278, Ellis ave., Bensenville. She is an officer of Gamma Delta literary society, and is active in the Illinois college association of women. Throughout all her activities she has maintained her standing as an honor student.

Miss Zollner is a graduate of Arlington Heights high school with the class of 1952.

Libertyville To Change Building Code

A new building code for Libertyville which will provide for technical progress in the building trades was readied for passage last week by the village board of trustees.

The board authorized Village Atty. Willis Overholser to prepare a final draft of the new ordinance, which will repeal all present building laws. Passage is expected sometime in January.

Village resident Francis Berry explained that the new code is based on structural design rather than specific standards.

"In other words," Berry said, "instead of requiring 2 x 4 studs for walls, the law will set forth the structural strength and load requirements for walls."

The new code will thus take into account any improvements in building procedures which might not have conformed to the specific requirements of the old law, Berry continued.

In Florida

Airman second class Kenneth W. Schroeder, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Schroeder, 126 S. Highland ave., Arlington Heights, has recently been assigned to Eglin AFB, Fla., headquarters of the air proving ground command.

Airman Schroeder attended air force technical schools at Keesler AFB, Biloxi, Miss., before his present assignment.

Prior to his entry into the air force in September, 1952, airman Schroeder attended Carthage college, Carthage. He was graduated from Arlington Heights high school in 1950.

In Texas

Recently home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ronk, 7 Hillside ave., Prospect Heights, on a week end leave, was Pvt. Delmar Ronk.

Pvt. Ronk is studying to be a neuro-psychiatric technician at Ft. Sam Houston, San Antonio, Tex. This course takes 12 to 16 weeks. Ronk came to San Antonio from Camp Pickett, Va., where he took his basic medical training.

In Korea

Army pvt. James E. Lorden, brother of Miss Mary K. Lorden, 169 S. Bothwell, Palatine, recently arrived in Korea for duty with I Corps.

The corps, one of three in Korea, coordinates the intensive post-truce training and reconditioning of UN units under its control.

Private Lorden, a survey specialist with corps' 1st field artillery observation battalion, entered the army last February and completed basic training at Fort Sill, Okla.

A graduate of Palatine high school, he was a construction worker for Roy Clements cement contractor in civilian life.

Gems of Thought

GIFTS

The memory of the Bethlehem babe bears to mortals gifts greater than those of Magian kings,—hopes that cannot deceive, that waken prophecy, gleams of glory, coronals of meekness, diadems of love.

In Virginia

2nd Lt. Vernon H. Rascher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rascher, Golf rd., Arlington Heights, is now attending the mess administration course offered by the quartermaster school, Fort Lee, Va. Lieut. Rascher graduated from Arlington Heights high school and the University of Illinois and began active duty in March, 1953.

Back Home

Sonarman third class Charles H. Ost, son of Mrs. Rose Mosser of 129 N. Cedar st., Palatine, has been discharged from the navy at the receiving station, Norfolk, Virginia. He arrived home Saturday.

Chuck expects to return to his brakeman job with the North Western. He spent his sea duty on two destroyers, which he thinks is a tough assignment in bad weather. He saw service in the Carribean and out of Key West.

Home From Korea

Harold Klapp, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Klapp, Rand rd., Palatine, has been discharged after 24 months of service, serving with the 439th army engineers corps November 24.

Harold was stationed in Central Korea for 17 months, where he said "We got your paper about 8 to 10 days after publication. It sure was wonderful to get news fro home. Not only did I read the paper, ut buddies of mine, like Art Cammon also read it."

Harold has been home since the 18th and has no immediate plans for the future.

In Korea

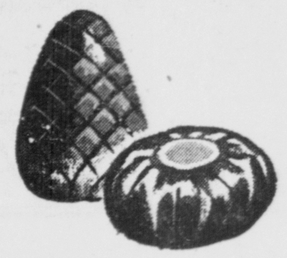

Pvt Floyd H. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Taylor, Palor rd., Palatine, recently joined the 25th infantry division in Korea.

Rushed to Korea during the early days of the conflict, the 25th infantry took part in some of the most bitter fighting on the peninsula. It is now undergoing intensive post-truce training.

Private Taylor entered the army last June and completed basic training at Camp Chaffee, Ark.

Telephone Carries Classroom to Invalid Students

Three students at Arlington Heights high school who are not capable of attending school due to injuries, are able to "attend" their classes every day through the new teaching by telephone system.

Most unique of these three is Martha Schaefer, who joins her class each morning from her bed at St. Theresa hospital, Waukegan, 30 miles away. This is accomplished by the use of intercommunication equipment connected to a leased telephone line —giving a two-way speaker-microphone arrangement between the classroom and the hospitalized or homebound student.

THROUGH THIS set-up the pupil can hear everything that goes on in the classroom. The teacher's voice and the voices of all pupils, even those in the last row of the room, are carried to the handicapped pupil. The latter recites, asks questions and takes part in he classroom exercises as the teacher directs.

Benefits of the method can best be demonstrated by describing an experience of one of the local students, which was part of the article written by LeRoy J. Knoeppel principal of Arlington high, and published in the November issue of "Illinois Education."

"During the past year, John Bjornseth has been attending high school by telephone. John was a polio victim and was tutored by a bedside teacher in the hospital until he returned home and began using the school-to-home telephone service. At the end of the year there was definitely no loss in academic achievement.

"THE BOY LOOKED forward to his classes with anticipation, and the method proved beyond doubt a tonic to his morale. Since he was able to participate in the discussion of school games and extracurricular activities, John felt he was part of the school and an active member of each of his classes. 'Telephone Teaching' will probably bring students back to school much faster."

Other Arlington students presently using the telephone teaching system are Richard Palmer of Prospect Heights and Irv Burkart of Mount Prospect. Each is connected with their own classes and at the end of each period a teacher or student is responsible for taking the equipment to the handicapped student's next class.

The cost of this service, which is provided on a rental basis by Illinois Bell and connecting independent telephone companies, averages between $15 and $25 a month, depending on the distance involved and the number of classroom connections required. At present the school bears all the expenses but the state of Illinois is currently considering a policy whereby a school district would pay only half of its normal per capita cost to be eligible for reimbursement for excess cost. This reimbursement may amount to as much as $300 per student.

Martha Schaefer (inset), who is in St. Theresa hospital, 30 miles from Arlington Heights, keeps up with classes at Arlington high school through the telephone teaching system. Martha is flicking on the microphone-speaker at her bedside to connect herself with her class shown in main picture. On the desk is another microphone-speaker which picks up the classroom discussion and also receives questions from Martha.

Richard Palmer, Prospect Heights, confined to his home due to injuries received in an accident, keeps up with his classes at Arlington Heights high school through the teaching by telephone method. The microphone-speaker shown on left allows Dick to hear the classroom discussion as well as ask a few questions he might have on the subject. He is one of three students benefiting from this service at the present time. —Community Camera.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

FROM PATTY McARDLE

Dear Peg:

Well, dear, December 1 has passed, and from now on the days are going to gather momentum like a rolling snowball, until before you know it, Christmas will be here! And isn't it funny, at this busiest time of the year we seem to have the most parties and activities to attend—giving us even less time to prepare for the holidays. Still, it's the festivity and getting together with friends that makes the season a gay one—so what if we do stay up all night Christmas eve wrapping presents, maybe we'll just have a "wrapping" party.

Speaking of parties, we recently went to Nancy and Spike's open house. Into their cute little ranch type home they invited 60 people for food and punch—the gal has courage, that's all there is to it. Her lovely table was decorated with evergreens and candles, and was laden with such delights as a platter heaped with shrimp, sliced ham, a large grapefruit stuck with picks holding cubes of various cheeses, a chafing dish filled with a delectable clam "dip", and a relish and bread plate, to say nothing of a huge, sparkling glass punch bowl of some delightfully indistinguishable concoction.

EVEN THOUGH THE ROOM was crowded, it really made for a more interesting party, since one is almost forced to meet the persons with whom one is rubbing shoulders, backs and feet. I believe it was their shoulders we were rubbing against when we met the charming couple from your town, Peg, the Fosters. Gloria is a tournament golfer and bridge player, has an attractive personality and a good looking husband. Maybe you know them. As a matter of fact, we met a number of people we'd never seen before and enjoyed learning about their interests and, of course, their children (the inevitable topic of conversation among couples with growing families).

All around us in this candle-lighted room, was the low hum of happy talk punctuated with gay laughter from young men in dark suits and pretty girls wearing jeweled taffeta, velvet or smart fur-collared tweed. Into this shining picture the catastrophe fell. All at once, there was the sound of cracking glass, a crash on the floor, and the splash of punch dripping down from the brimming top of the table. All of us were startled as no one was near the bowl when it happened—somehow it just fell apart!

WHILE THE PEOPLE who were nearest the scene of the accident were quickly carrying things off the table and mopping up, Nancy came in from the kitchen. I watched her expression, expecting agony, and was surprised to see her smile and hear her gaily remark, "Well, it must have been an awfully cheap punch bowl!" The air was cleared, the food carried back on the dried off table, and the party was resumed.

When we left around seven, having promised to drop in on another couple that evening, people were still arriving. It's amusing to see how we've come to interpret a five to seven invitation. It doesn't any longer mean "come at five and stay until seven"—it means "come any time between five-thirty and seven and stay about two hours." However, at Nancy and Spike's I'm sure we were all invited to come any time and stay as long as we pleased.

My love,

Patty.

Editor Tells Story of 'Five Weeks Before the Mast'

As I am writing this story the ship is getting the "shakes" as high seas hit us. I thought I was doing very well not to have any trace of seasickness in weather that is throwing water so high that personnel is barred from the catwalks and operation of aircraft is impossible, including a promised transfer of mail by hellicopter this morning.

A flight operations tour this morning by Lt. Commander Baker was very instructive but did not qualify me to take aloft any of the ships.

The catapult operation in which a jet is "hurled" off the ship at a speed of over 100 miles an hour is accomplished by the operation of a Hydraulic ram which is released under an air pressure of from 2500 to 3500 pounds, depending upon the weight of the plane. The air pressure is increased or lessened by the amount of oil that is pumped into the lower part of the air-oil accumulator.

A somewhat similar method is used for the operation of arresting gear machinery which "catches" the hook beneath the plane as it lands on the deck.

The catapulting and landing operations concern the launching and landing of planes. The safety measures that surround the preparation of the planes for flight include what we landlubbers would call red tape, but nobody suggests that any of it be cut.

While every pilot naturally gives the plane he is about to fly a "once over" that plane which had been checked and double checked before it was declared by inspectors ready for flying, is scrutinized by the flight boss in his cage above the flight deck, the plane dispatcher on the flight deck and catapult operator who touches the button that releases the catapult. By a multiple of buttons anyone of these officers can stop the operation. As the pilot flies off the deck, he knows that everything is in his favor for the operation or patrol as explained to him in the ready room a few minutes earlier.

Civilians accustomed to seeing commercial planes travel long runways before coming to a stop are surprised by the quickness with which a jet flying over 100 miles an hour is brought to a stop within 140 feet. There are 12 strands of cable 10 feet apart raised a distance of 15 inches across the landing area. The plane's hook should grab one of them, and instantly cause the other ones to lower, preventing an accident.

As a protection if the plane lands in such a manner that the hook let out by the pilot at the tail of the plane does not catch one of the cables, there are three additional barriers which are certain to prevent the plane from crashing into the ships on the forward deck, which had landed previously. Two of them are of cable raised five feet in the air to stop "runaway" jet planes.

The other barrier is for "props" strips of nylon, that can be instantly raised 12 feet. It will stop any plane, although propellers of prop planes may be damaged.

A propeller plane striking final barriers may mean the flying around of a lot of "shrapnel," which occurred when one plane exploded. Fortunately no person was hit, but two other planes had to go to the hangar deck for repairs.

Youngsters like to play with model planes. That "playing" is a necessity on a carrier. Upon a spotting board in a small room, well armored, are small models of planes which are moved about a similated hangar and flight deck so that inquiry of the location of any plane on board can be immediately ascertained. When orders call for the flight of a special kind of plane or jet, there is no hunting around the "parking lot" to find it.

"Down" planes are so marked until they have been repaired and are in readiness to fly.

This editor's report of flight methods may be devoid of technicalities, but it should give an "idea of the operation" that this guest of the U. S. Navy received this morning through the kindness of Lt. Commander Baker.

Santa's Here

I was both surprised and delighted by all the children who visited me at Hagenbring's store in Arlington Heights last week end and I want to thank Paddock Publications for the wonderful ad they had in their paper announcing my arrival.

Due to this ad, I had youngsters from as far away as Wauconda, Barrington, Lake Zurick, Buffalo Grove, Long Gove, Roselle, Des Plaines and Prospect Heights, besides all the children from Arlington Heights. Beginning Monday, Dec. 7, I will be at Hagenbrings every afternoon and evening until December 23 and I wish to extend an invitation to every boy and girl in the area to come and visit me.

School Bus

Enclosed is an article about people stopping for a school bus because one night I had stopped for a school bus and two cars behind me almost smashed into the rear of my car. Evidently they did not know of this law. I feel that if this article was brought before the public that more people would know that they should stop for school busses.

You must stop for a school bus loading or discharging passengers on every type street and road in Illinois.

There is no exception in Illinois, the Chicago Motor club points out, even for traffic going the opposite direction on a four lane roadway. The motorist in the black car illustrated above is getting a traffic summons because of failure to stop for the bus.

Indiana does provide an exception, allowing traffic going the opposite direction from the bus to continue provided that the pavement is divided by a median strip at least 20 feet wide.

New Church

As the former chairman of the publicity committee of the Arlington Heights Evangelical Free church, I would like to express my appreciation and gratitude to Paddock Publications. The excellent cooperation and assistance in publicizing our church has been outstanding. The ads appearing in the Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights Heralds have helped greatly in making known the existence of this new church.

It is very evident that the increased numbers attending all services is partially due to the advertising carried in your papers. Again a sincere thank you.

QUITE CONTRARY

BY MARY

Just as we were working ourselves up to the good old Christmas spirit, the good old Christmas cold came and got us. We wonder what causes our yearly cold to wait until the busiest time of the year to put in its appearance. It's uncanny the way this common ailment can tell time.

However, bright red nose with eyes to match goes with the season color scheme. This is the time of the year that we start thinking about all the people that we used to know. This is the time of the year that we start watching for the mailman to bring cards from people we have almost forgotten. Christmas cards are the nicest invention yet.

The nicest thing about big cities is our ability to stay away from them. But, last Saturday we were informed by the paternal grandfather in our family that we were blighting the little life of our smallest fry by not taking her to see Santy. Not being a blighter by nature, we wound all and sundry up in their best and made the safari into the large city to the southeast.

We waited in line to park. We waited in line to eat. Poor father waited in line for nigh onto two hours with the smallest draped tiredly over his shoulder in order to see the man in the red suit. Then, the great moment arrived and what does the smallest do? You guessed it. She hangs back shyly and mutters into father's pantleg that she wants a "wed book."

At this point, claustrophobia set in and we hurried our bunch back to the car and hence back to the country where the only banging around we get is from our dog trying to get through a door ahead of us.

We have reached a major decision. We will never again have the living room rug cleaned. it is too much of a strain on the family ties. We will now just let the old thing get dirtier and dirtier until it can't stand itself anymore and will just fade away to nothing. As things now stand, we are a one woman army on the lookout to guard against that spilled glass of milk, that overturned pop bottle, that cookie crumb, and that inevitable drop of mustard.

We have taken to chasing the dog all over the house to keep him from using the lovely renewed gray thing as his own personal bath towel. Why shouldn't he mop that lovely mud that he took such pains to collect off on the rug? Hasn't he always? Yes he has. He's an older dog, and there will be none of this new tricks nonsense for him. We have just fought a losing fight. All that remains is to accept defeat as gracefully as possible. We hope the family won't mind if we grind our teeth a little.

At Showcase Theater

Producer Hope Summers announced the Jeffrey Lynn, star of the current Showcase Theatre production "Mister Roberts" will be held over for a third week, playing through Sunday, Dec. 20.

Following the engagement of Mr. Lynn, Showcase theatre will present Ruth Chatterton, the glamorous star of stage, screen and television, in the Rachel Crothers' smart, sparkling comedy hit "Susan And God" with Barry Thomson and the Showcase resident cast in supporting roles. "Susan And God" will open Christmas night, Friday, Dec. 25, and run through Sunday, Jan. 10.

Nylon barrier raised in place when prop planes are landing. Fortunately, it is seldom necessary to "catch" a plane by its operation. Wire cables instead of nylon barrier are raised five feet to stop a jet plane that did not land properly. The entire landing operation calls for skill on the part of the pilot and know-how on the part of the flight signal officer of whose work we will tell about in our next installment.

DeLuxe Service For Navy Personnel

The primary function of the Navy's Ship Store afloat is to provide service and comfort facilities to the men who make up a ship's crew.

For the personnel serving abord the aircraft carrier USS Bennington (CVA-20) there's three ship's stores catering to their needs and two soda fountains satisfying their "sweet tooth" desires.

To replace lost and worn out garments, the Bennington sailor has only to visit the clothing and small store shop where a complete ensemble of navy clothing from shoes to hats and underwear to coats are sold.

On inspection day, ship's company personnel will look their best with free haircuts from the seven man barber shop, and highly polished shoes repaired by the ship's cobbler.

In the ship's laundry and tailor shop, approximately 400,000 pieces of clothing are washed and pressed monthly. Beneath tons of soap and thousands of gallons of water, complete laundry facilities are provided on a no cost basis where every effort is made to return the laundry within 48 hours.

The guiding hand of the ship's store organization is a Bureau of supplies and accounts officer, Ensign Elliot I. Cooper Holding a Masters Degree in Industrial Management from the University of Michigan, young Cooper is constantly striving to improve merchandising methods abord ship in order to keep quick turn over items like souvenirs, stationery, watches, perfumes, candy and cigarettes moving rapidly in the Ship Stores.

For the lover of sweets,17 assorted brands of candy and nine flavors of ice cream with fruit topping are available at each soda fountain, selling at the rate of 3,000 cups of ice cream and 1,200 bars of candy a day.

With the sailors keeping the home folks posted on ship board life and liberty calls, the Ship Store sells approximately 1,800 boxes of stationery monthly. Other fast moving items include soap, shoe polish and tooth paste.

An integral part of ship operation but removed from actual air activity, the Ship's Store is the greatest moral factor, second only to mail from home.

Farm Surplus And Shrinking Foreign Market Cause Ills

Most of the ills which now beset agriculture stem from farm surplus and a shrinking foreign farm market.

An expansion of agriculture production growing out of World War II—coupled with a 33 per cent decline in farm exports during the past year—has led America up to the crossroads where it must decide which way to go to solve the problem.

"We have two alternatives," John C. Lynn, legislative director of the AFBF said. "We can either expand our markets, both at home and abroad, to use up the production of our farms or reduce the production on these farms to meet a decreased demand."

"THE LATTER choice means acreage restrictions, marketing quotas, control of diverted acres and many other problems that add up to a lower net spendable income for agriculture."

Lynn said high production and a good demand for American farm products at home and abroad created a very favorable situation for farmers "while it lasted."

"In the last eighteen months, however, the situation has become much less favorable," he said. "Domestic demand has remained high, but foreign sales have declined about one-third."

He attributed the decline in exports to a tapering off of U. S. foreign aid programs, increased availability of farm products outside the United States, and domestic price support policies "which have sometime kept American prices above those of other exporting nations."

AS FOR SURPLUSES, Lynn said in some cases the department of agriculture in recent years had encouraged farmers to expand production by "setting high production goals and by maintaining price supports at the maximum level permitted by the law." To correct the situation, Lynn said, farmers obviously need to expand their markets, reduce production costs, and adjust their output to "changing conditions."

"In short, we need to find a formula for prosperity without war and with a minimum of interference by the government," he said, and added that "to achieve this goal requires more than a farm program."

He said such a program requires among other things:

Monetary and fiscal policies which will contribute to the maintenance of a more stable general price level.

MAINTENANCE of full employment and a good distribution of spendable income, which means income after taxes paid.

Correction of government policies which tend to place agriculture at a disadvantage with the rest of the economy.

Policies which will encourage foreign trade.

Meeting the threat of monopoly power, whether from industry, labor, agriculture or "big government."

Creating and maintaining world peace.

However, he warned against those who, during a period of declining farm prices and continued increases in farm costs, "would hamstring the whole American economy by government control."

Make Your Barn Lightning Safe

A little time spent in relocating and modernizing light fixtures in your farm buildings may prevent thousands of dollars' worth of fire damage in the future.

Frank Andrew, University of Illinois rural electrification specialist, isn't advocating indirect lighting or individual lamps for each cow. But he does offer these tips for safer lighting in farm buildings:

1. Place light fixtures where they're not likely to be broken by livestock fork handles or other equipment.

* * *

2. A DOLLAR spent on a dustproof fixture for the haymow, grain bins or other dusty places can prevent future fires.

3. Don't mount lights straight out from a wall where the bulbs will catch cobwebs or can be used as hangers for clothes, drop cords, etc.

Andrew says there are two main styles of dustproof fixtures. One uses a mason jar to protect the bulb; the other has a heavy glass dome. The latter type is best if the light has been located where it may be struck.

Egg Production Perks Up When Poultry Houses Receive Right Amount of Light

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

A well-lighted poultry house is the answer to maintaining top egg production during the winter months. What does light do for layers? Well, we used to think that it kept them awake and, therefore, encouraged them to eat more. Now we know differently.

It takes light to keep egg production at peak level as days grow shorter.

It's the light itself that does the trick. Studies show that light stimulates the egg-producing "mechanism" of the hen and enables her to continue laying at a satisfactory rate despite the shorter days. Chickens under light eat about the same amount of feed as those without light.

Apparently the intensity of light doesn't matter too much as long as the interior of the poultry house is well-illuminated. This includes floor, feed troughs, roosts and water fountains. A range of from 1 to 38 foot candles of light per square foot seems to be sufficient for the average poultry structure, provided that no areas of it are in shadow.

There are several different lighting systems in use, but one which has been tested thoroughly and found to meet general requirements involves the application of both bright and dim lights. In this system, one 50 or 60 watt lamp is installed for every 200 square feet of the total house area. Lamps are placed in reflectors of from 12 to 16 inches in diameter and from 3 to 4 inches deep. Reflectors are located approximately 6 feet from the floor. These bright lights should be spaced half-way between the dropping board and front of the poultry house; located 10 feet apart, and approximately 5 feet in from the ends of the structure.

For proper dim light effect, one 15 watt lamp should be used in the dim light circuit for every two of the brighter lights. The dim lights should be installed directly over the roosts. A time switch will enable the farmer to operate his poultry house lighting schedule automatically. For example, in the illumination schedule described, the switch will turn the bright lights on and off at the proper time. Also, it will change to the dim light circuit automatically when the bright light schedule is completed, thus simulating the onset of darkness. For best results, layers should receive from 13 to 14 hours of light per day.

LAW on the FARM

How to Organize a Wildlife district

In 1939 the Illinois legislature passed an act to provide for the organization of districts for the propagation, maintenance, and control of wild life, including the abatement of noxious and harmful insects, birds, and other animals.

These are the requirements for organizing such a district:

1. A contiguous area of at least 1,280 acres lying wholly within one county and owned by at least four separate owners is necessary.

2. A majority of the owners in a proposed district, owning at least three-fourths of the land, petition the county judge, stating the name of the wildlife district and defining its boundaries.

* * *

3. THE COUNTY judge sets a hearing, and following the hearing an election is held. A majority of the votes cast is necessary to organize the district.

Once organized, the district is governed by three trustees elected annually. Among the powers and duties of the district are the following:

1. Levy annually, subject to the general revenue laws, a general tax not to exceed .05 per cent of the full, fair cash value of all taxable property in the district, and use such money for district purposes.

2. EMPLOY a sufficient police force to enforce ordinances passed by the trustees relative to hunting, trespassing, destroying game cover and other subjects.

3. Take such action as is necessary to control, abate or exterminate harmful animals, insects and birds. A 1951 amendment to the law permits the trustees to contract for such services.

4. Propagate and liverage beneficial and song birds, game birds and game animals.

Provide Warm Water For Your Cows This Winter

It's cheaper to use coal or oil to heat water before your dairy cows drink it than to use expensive feeds to do the job after it's in their stomachs.

That's why L. R. Fryman, dairy science specialist at the University of Illinois, suggests checking your tank heater now to be sure it's in good working order before cold weather sets in.

He says you'll cut feed bills and produce more milk this winter by providing plenty of warm water for your cows in a place protected from cold winds.

FORCING DAIRY cows to drink cold water means that they'll have to use a good part of their feed as "fuel" to warm it. Cold water also slows up the digestive process in the stomach and may stop it altogether for a time when a large volume of cold water first enters the stomach.

Fryman recommends watering cows at least twice a day. They'll drink more water and produce as much as 10 per cent more butterfact than if watered only once a day.

Roselle Herd First, Palatine Cows Ninth In State DHIA Test

Cook County had two of the state's 10 highest producing herds in dairy herd improvement test for October, reports farm adviser Carl F. Mees.

Oak Hollow Farm, Roselle, whose herd of 18 purebred Guernseys averaged 1,234 pounds of milk and 62.6 pounds of butterfat per cow, ranked 1st in fat production among the 1,717 herds on test in Illinois during the month.

Martin Loeber, Palatine, whose herd of 34 purebred Holsteins averaged 1,076 pounds of milk and 47.7 pounds of butterfat per cow, ranked 9th in fat production among the 1,717 herds on test in Illinois during the month.

The state average for October was 701 pounds of milk and 27.6 pounds of fat per cow. Both of these herds are members of the Cook County DHIA No.2 association.

Prevent Hunting Accidents With Some Good Sense

Most hunting accidents can be prevented if you'll take a generous measure of common sense along on your hunting trips, Cook county farm adviser Carl F. Mees says.

According to National Safety Council reports, almost two-thirds of the accidents reported during the hunting season are due to three causes. These three are humans getting in the line of fire, mistaking humans for game and hunting with the safety catch off.

USING GOOD sense while hunting means consideration for others, too, Mees says. To conserve game, take only as much as you can use, within the legal limit, of course. For bird hunting, take a trained dog to retrieve cripples. Prevent fires by carefully putting out campfires and cigarettes; break matches before dropping them.

For safer hunting, Mees lists the following ten commandments:

1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun.

* * *

2. BEFORE TAKING a gun into your auto, camp or home, be sure it is broken down or has the action opened.

3. Always be sure barrel and action are free of obstructions.

4. Always carry a gun so that you can control direction of the muzzle.

5. Be sure of the target before you pull the trigger.

6. NEVER LEAVE your gun unattended without unloading it.

7. Don't point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.

8. Don't climb a tree or fence with a loaded gun.

9. Don't shoot at a flat, hard surface or the surface of the water.

10. Never try to mix alcohol and gunpowder.

Bred Ewe Sale December 12

The annual bred ewe sale of the Illinois purebred sheep breeders' association is scheduled for December 12 at the stock pavilion on the campus of the University of Illinois in Urbana.

U. S. Garrigus, animal science specialist at the University, says 74 ewes consigned by 35 different breeders will be sold at auction beginning at 1 p.m. All of the consignments will be in their pens by 9:30 a.m. for pre-sale inspection.

There'll be nine different breeds represented in the sale. Hampshires lead the list in numbers with 16 scheduled to go on the block. They are followed closely by 15 Shropshires.

Other breeds to be sold include Cheviots, Corriedales, Dorsets, Oxfords, Rambouillets, Southdowns, and Suffolks.

IAA Passes Goal

The Illinois Agricultural Association, state-wide Farm Bureau organization, now represents more than 200,000 Illinois farm families, according to an announcement made by IAA secretary of organization Charles S. Mayfield.

Mayfield told members of the organization gathered at the IAA annual meeting that a special 200,000 goal had been surpassed.

When the special membership drive began October 1, the state farm organization represented a little over 197,000 farm families. Mayfield said tonight the 200,000 goal had been exceeded by 327 members.

IAA President Charles B. Shuman told delegates at the evening session that achievement of the 200,000 mark was an historic and significant step forward in the progress of Farm Bureau in Illinois.

Farm Leaders On Rural TV Show

Five state farm bureau leaders will meet and discuss local and national agricultural problems on the "Farmtown, U.S.A." television show, Sunday, Dec. 13.

Allan B. Kline, president of the American farm bureau federation, will also appear on the program to tell of the AFBF annual meeting which will be held in Chicago December 14-17.

University Tests Winter Beef Calf Rations

An excellent ration for wintering beef calves is corn silage made from high-yielding corn, supplemented with soybean oil meal and a free-choice mineral mix.

In a recent test at the University of Illinois, calves fed this ration gained 1.64 pounds daily over a 160 day feeding period at the cheap cost of $12.83 a hundred pounds.

HIGH-PROTEIN corn silage, made from a special strain of corn, did not prove to be equal in feeding value to the regular corn silage plus a protein supplement. Adding an energy source to offset the energy in the soybean oil meal fed to the check lot failed to make up the difference.

In another experiment, legume-grass silage supplemented with a good source of energy, either as a preservative or as a supplement, proved to be a good wintering ration. Gains were economical. When corn was used as the energy supplement, home-grown feeds were used as the entire ration except for a simple salt-mineral supplement.

CALVES RECEIVING this home grown gained 1.65 pounds daily over a 160 day feeding period at a cost of $14.05 per hundredweight.

A. L. Neumann, head of the beef division, who supervised these experiments, says the results of the tests showed that it's not necessary to spend money for a complete energy, mineral and vitamin supplement to add to legume-grass silage, whether or not it is made with a preservative.

He also says you can expect calves to eat more silage, with a resulting higher gain, if it is self-fed.

Some Hog Men Made Money For Themselves In '52

Despite the fact that last year hogs paid the lowest returns in 20 years, many farmers made money on them. If you were one of those who lost money, you can compare your operations with these figures.

Carl F. Mees, farm adviser, says an analysis of 612 farm accounts kept in the farm bureau farm management service show these differences:

1. The 110 most efficient make $1.37 for each dollar spent for feed, while the 113 least efficient producers actually lost 8 cents on each dollar's worth of feed.

* *

2. TOP FAMERS weaned 6.6 pigs per litter compared with only 6.1 for the least efficient farmers.

3. They also kept more litters—38 compared with 28.

4. Even though they kept more litters and weaned bigger litters, efficient farmers lost only 9 pigs after weaning compared with 16 lost by the least efficient farmers.

5. LEAST efficient farmers actually suffered twice the death loss suffered by most efficient—3.3 per cent compared with 1.4 per cent.

In many cases, Mees says, the differences between profit and loss isn't big enough to be noticeable until you add up the books at the end of the year.

Handy Jim's FIXIN-UP TIPS For Farm and Home

This Wall's a Blackboard!

HOW about installing a blackboard wall in the nursery or children's playroom? It will be educational for the youngsters and easy on Dad's pocketbook.

The wainscot blackboard (see drawing) is simply four-foot-wide Masonite Tempered Presdwood, applied right over the old wall. Over it, Dad can spread some chalkboard material, which may be obtained in green or black at most paint stores.

Youngsters will enjoy the blackboard, which can be redecorated eventually. Tempered Presdwood wears durably and won't be affected by scuffs and bumps. Here's the way to make the blackboard:

Apply two coats of clear sealer, sanding down the first thoroughly and the second lightly. Now apply a thick coat of the slating material. When it is dry, rub it down with a clean cloth. Commercial chalkboards are made of the same materials.

The Tempered Presdwood may be applied directly over old plaster by using a wallboard adhesive. Panels one-eighth inch thick are suitable. In new construction, quarter-inch panels may be applied directly to the studs.

Bronchitis Very Costly To Most Poultrymen

One dollar! That's what each chicken that gets infectious bronchitis is going to cost you in lost egg production, says Dr. J. O. Alberts of the University of Illinois college of veterinary medicine.

Infected broilers lose weight, and laying hens reduce their egg production. Even after these hens recover, they will never return to high production of good quality eggs.

Dr. Alberts estimates that 50 to 60 percent of the chicken flocks in Illinois have been exposed to this highly contagious virus disease.

ONCE ONE of your birds picks up the disease it may be only a matter of hours before the entire flock shows the symptoms. Although few chickens over four weeks of age die, they refuse to eat and appear run-down. Even after the chickens recover, the virus will hang around for three to four weeks, ready to attack any new birds you may bring in.

Since man is responsible for most of the spread of bronchitis, you must keep as much traffic out of your flock as possible and use sanitary equipment to help prevent the disease. There are as yet no drugs that will fight bronchitis.

FOR FURTHER information on the prevention of infectious bronchitis, you may get a free leaflet by writing to the college of veterinary medicine at the University of Illinois.

Business Activity Good During October

Business in the Chicago area was generally good during October, 1953, with record high levels for the month being established in electric power production, industrial gas sales, air travel, and postal receipts.

Electric power production totaled 1,360,362,000 kilowatt hours compared with 1,316,933,000 in October, 1952. Industrial gas sales reached 14,188,050 therms, a substantial increase over the 12,545,231 therms sold in the same month last year.

Air passengers carried totaled 631,571 at Midway Airport, an increase of 77,176 over October, 1952. There were 67,286 air express shipments, a slight decrease from the 67,592 made last year.

Postal receipts totaled $13,449,890, a record high for October and the second largest month on record, being exceeded only by December, 1952.

Chicago area mills produced 1,711,800 net tons of steel, down slightly from last year, but was higher than the figure for any other October on record.

The department store sales index during October was 107—using the years 1947-49 as a base of 100—compared with an index of 106 in 1952.

Record Cow

With 11,482 pounds of milk and 502 pounds of butterfat to her credit, Anker T Burke Pearl, a registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by Donald W. Johnson, Holbart Farm, Bartlett, Ill., has completed a 337-day production test in official advanced registry.

She was milked 2 times daily, and was 4 years of age when she began her testing period.

Her record averages approximately 16 quarts of milk daily for the period covered by her test.

Cost Of Marketing Food Tops Cost Of Growing It

Why haven't food prices gone down as much as farm prices during the past few years? The Federal Reserve bank of Chicago answer this question in its current monthly review, "Business Conditions."

Chief reason is that cost of food at the local grocery store includes a lot more than prices paid to farmers. From 30 to 90 per cent of the final price of food covers charges for shipping, storing, processing, packaging, and distributing.

MOREOVER, the bank points out that these charges are not affected very much by the supply and demand factors which determine farm prices. For example, wages paid by food handling firms —which account for over half the total cost of marketing—do not move up and down with farm prices.

Since October 1952, inflexible marketing costs have held food prices to a 1 per cent decline, whereas farm prices dropped 11 per cent during this same period.

Of course, the bank explains, the smaller the marketing cost the more sensitive retail food prices are to farm price movements. Retail prices of meat, eggs, and butter, for instance, follow swings in farm prices with some faithfulness. For these foods, the farmer receives about 65 to 70 cents out of the consumer's retail food dollar.

ON THE OTHER HAND, the farmer receives only 15 to 20 per cent of the retail price of bread and canned fruits and vegetables. Thus a drop in the farm price of wheat, peaches, or tomatoes may have only little effect on the family food bill.

In recent years Mrs. John Doe has been spending more and more money for food (even after making allowance for the rise in consumer prices). But the average consumer has not increased his food intake.

What's happening is that (1) less bread and potatoes and more beef, fresh fruit, and vegetables are being eaten and (2) housewives are demanding more services which have pushed up marketing costs. Among these additional services are precooked foods, fancy packaging, and everything else that makes for convenience and quality at grocery stores.

Seed Mixtures Are Becoming More Popular

Seed mixtures for use in pastures, grass waterways and lawns are in bigger demand by both farmers and city residents.

This was reported today by L. R. Downs, manager of Producers seed company. The company is affiliated with the Illinois agricultural association.

City residents want more custom mixing service, Downs reported. They use the seed mixtures in lawns and playgrounds, he added.

"This service to both city residents and farmers will continue to be popular," Downs continued, adding that, "more than 65,000 pounds of seed were mixed to order during 1953 by our company."

Farmers are beginning to realize that perhaps an expanded use of grasses and legumes can be nearly profitable as the growing of cash grains such as corn, wheat and soybeans.

Frozen Food Sessions

A record attendance is indicated for the second annual meeting of the central states frozen food association November 19 and 20 at the Conrad Hilton hotel in Chicago.

An "avenue of brands" will feature and display the exhibits of packers and suppliers.

Speakers at the luncheon will be N. B. Barclay, president, Snow Crop division of Clinton Foods; Crawford Pollock, vice president of C. A. Swanson & Sons, Omaha, Nebraska; and Robert W. Mairs of Wintergarden citrus products co-operative.

C&NW Announce Faster and Better Trains to Pacific Coast

Three major developments in jointly-operated transcontinental train travel has been announced by the Chicago and North Western and Union Pacific railroads with regard to service between Chicago and western points.

Effective January 10, the two railroads will:

1) Restore to service the famous pre-war "Challenger" which will now have all streamlined equipment. The train will be primarily for coach passengers but will also have Pullman accommodations and will link Chicago and Los Angeles on a 39 and one-half hour schedule with only one night en route.

2) Introduce America's newest streamliner equipment for the City of Denver service.

3) Discontinue extra-fare charges on the streamliner City of Los Angeles.

The Challenger, discontinued during the war, will be diesel-powered and streamlined from stem to stern and will shave a total of 20 hours and 30 minutes from the running time of the pre-war Challengers which were steam powered and had standard equipment.

There will be no extra fare charges on the Challenger and the half-fare family travel plan will apply. Modern reserved-seat coaches will feature leg-rest seats and all diners and lounge cars on the train will be available to coach passengers. The Challenger streamliners will replace the Los Angeles Limited which is being discontinued.

The daily City of Denver streamliner will be replaced in its entirety with ultra-modern equipment which is now being delivered by the manufacturers. Earlier this year, the railroads retired the previous equipment which had established a travel record of 12,139,160 miles since January 18, 1936. Substitute trains from other streamliners have been used in the interim.

Despite the fact that the extra fare on the City of Los Angeles is being discontinued, the train will continue on its present fast schedule and will offer all of the refinements of luxury travel that first established its reputation on its inauguration.
